Inwood Office Park plans may be in peril

By GORDON VINCENT

WILMINGTON - After 17 years of planning, Inwood Office Park may be on the outs less than six months after it finally received approval from the city of Woburn.

Bank Midwest, the lending institution for Inwood Office Park, filed a series of legal notices that indicate foreclosure on the 57-acre site, which is located off Route 93 near the borders of Wilmington and Reading. Five buildings comprising of 850,000-square-feet of office space are planned for the location.

An auction is scheduled for Wednesday, April 3, but Attorney Joseph Tarby, who is representing developer Edward Callan through the local permitting process, said that he is still hopeful that the project will go forward as planned.

"The types of projects are dictated by the market, and there's no question times have been tough in the past six months," said Tarby. "But if the economy gets better, there's nothing that would prevent a large tenant to come in and take up a lot of the available space."

Tarby noted that Woburn would also be a loser if Inwood Office park never materializes because, according to Callan, the enterprise could generate as much as $4.3 million in annual tax revenue for the city. People in Wilmington might, however, see the loss differently, for commuters would only be able to access the office park through Route 129 to West Street in town. If the office park comes to fruition, then Wilmington would receive all of the traffic and Woburn would acquire virtually all of the revenue.

"If it's sold at the auction, then the new owner may not be able to get the project going before the permits expire," said Tarby. "So (Woburn) does have an interest here."

Ironically, Callan is near the end of the permitting process,

"SONS" COME THROUGH WITH A CRUISER. On Friday, March 15, the Wilmington Police Department presented a plaque to the Sons of Italy to show its appreciation for the $30,000 that was donated, so that Safety Officer Brian Moon could have a new cruiser. Sons of Italy donates a cruiser

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Safety Officer Brian Moon has got himself a new set of wheels.

In February, the Wilmington Sons of Italy presented to the Wilmington Police Department a donation of $30,000 to be spent on a brand new police cruiser for the department's brand new safety officer. Moon replaced Safety Officer Bobby Shelly, who retired in January after three decades of public service.

"It's nice to come into work and drive a brand new car," says Officer Moon.

The gift, which is a 2001 Ford Crown Victoria, makes the latest in a number of offerings from the Sons of Italy. Previously, the Sons of Italy had presented two thermal-imaging cameras for the Wilmington Fire Department and an electronic scoreboard for Wilmington High School. To the Sons of Italy, the Wilmington Police Department seemed the natural choice as the recipient of their latest gift.

"Last summer, we decided as a committee to do something for the police department," says Sons of Italy President Charlie DeStefano.

The cruiser arrived in town approximately three weeks ago. Officer Moon had it striped by a specialist in Billerica and equipped by Adamson Industries in Lawrence. On Friday, March 15, the new car was parked out front of the new public safety building, and its proud owner was joined by members of the Sons of Italy, Police Chief Bernard Nally, Town Manager Michael Caira and Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain during a brief ceremony in which a plaque was presented. The plaque, which features a picture of the new cruiser parked next to the gazebo at the Town Common, was offered to the Sons of Italy from the police department in appreciation for the organization's generosity. As another expression of gratitude, the words "Courtesy of the Sons of Italy" are elegantly painted on the back half of both sides of the vehicle.

"The cruiser is geared towards kids," says Officer Moon. "It doesn't have a light bar, so it has a bit of a low profile, which is good because I can lay back a bit when checking on bust stops and other things."

According to Moon, his new cruiser has been greeted, especially by kids, with many compliments.

"When I drive up to schools, kids get really excited when they see the new cruiser," says Moon. "I've been getting a lot of compliments about how nice it looks."

Oxycontin theft

High speed chase leads to arrest

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - A suspected robber tried to beat the Wilmington Police Department at a game of Catch Me If You Can on Tuesday afternoon, and his challenge proved to be a gamble in which he lost.

At approximately 1:20 p.m. on Tuesday, March 19, the Wilmington Police Department received information that Tewksbury resident Paul Mahoney might be headed its way. Mahoney had allegedly robbed the Pill Box Pharmacy on Cambridge Street in Burlington and fled north on Route 3 with stolen quantities of Oxycontin in his possession. At one point, he hooked up with Route 62 and began to head towards Wilmington.

At the time, Officer Ronald Alpers was driving along Route 62 and heard from dispatch that a robbery suspect who was driving a gray Ford Escort station wagon was heading his

MCAS sessions focus on math, English

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Students who will be retaking the Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System (MCAS) exam later this spring will have opportunities between now and then to hit the books and better their chances.

At its meeting on Wednesday, March 13, the School Committee was informed by Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell that a series of programs will be held on seven Saturdays between now and May that will help students bone up on their math and English.

The seven sessions have a name: Project Success.

The first program was held on Saturday, March 16. The six to follow are scheduled to take place at Wilmington High School on upcoming Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. for students who want to hone their math skills and from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for those who want to study English Language Arts. If a student wants to enroll in both classes on those Saturdays, they may certainly do so.

Project Success is funded by state grants, so, said Superintendent O'Donnell, "it's a no-cost project for the students."

O'Donnell expressed her confidence that Project Success will breed success.

"We have definitely found data linking students' successes with the re-take (of the MCAS) with those students who do participate in this tutoring," said O'Donnell.

If, alas, the third time does not prove a charm for students who have re-taken the exam that number of times, then there is an appeals process that has been set up for them by the Board of Education. In order to apply for such an appeal, though, such a student would have to first meet a set of criteria that has been established by the Board of Education.

For starters, the students would have to offer proof that they had indeed taken the exam three times. Secondly, they must show that they have at least once scored 216 points out of the 220 that make for a success on the test. Thirdly, they would have to have two or

The unsolved murder of Amy Sullivan

Benefit will raise reward money for killer's capture

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - For the past five and a half years, Dennis and Barbara Sullivan were advised by authorities not to raise funds to go towards a reward for the capture of the individual who brutally murdered their 17-year-old daughter, Amy.

Now, though, the Sullivans have been given an official "go ahead" to raise as much money as it takes to reward the person who steps forward and provides police with information that ultimately lands Amy's killer behind bars.

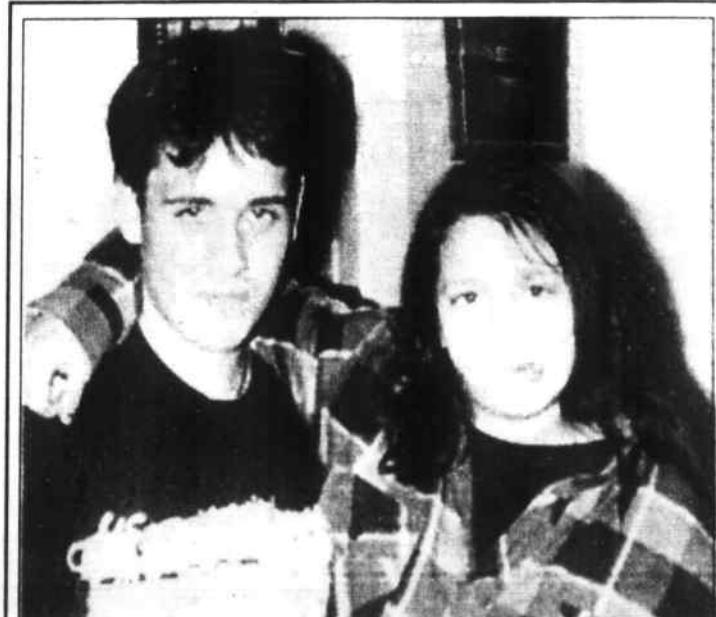

Amy Sullivan, who was a sophomore at Shawsheen Tech, was reported missing from her Tewksbury home on June 6, 1996. A month later, on August 7, Amy was discovered in the woods behind a warehouse on Ballardvale Street in Wilmington. She had been beaten to death.

To this day, her murderer roams free, but that person's days to do so may now be numbered. On Sunday, April 7, a reward benefit will be held at Grill 93 in Andover, and its proceeds will go towards reward money for the capture of Amy's killer. The event, which will

All that remains of the Harnden Massacre

By CAPT. LARZ NEILSON
WILMINGTON - A large boulder in a front yard on Marcia Road in North Wilmington is known as Indian Rock. It is the only visible remainder of the Harnden Massacre of 1706.

Richard Harnden, the first white settler in what is now North Wilmington, built a home, about 1665, on the site of what is now the home of Stuart Neilson, on High Street. The land at the time was a part of Reading. Seven years after Harnden built his home, the Boston-Andover Road was laid out. It included the part of High Street that is closest to Woburn Street.

Richard Harnden had lived in the Ipswich area of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, prior to building the home in what is now North Wilmington. He had two sons, Benjamin and John. Benjamin built a house on the site now occupied by the Reading Co-Operative Bank, next to the Whitefield School.

John, who was a deacon in the Reading (now Wakefield) Congregational Church, built his home near the site now occupied by the Woburn Street School.

West Street was the path that John used when he went to the church on business, and it became known as "The Deacon's Way," as he cut his way through the swamps, choosing dry ground as much as possible. Benjamin Harnden accidentally killed an Indian squaw, about 1704, near the Wilmington - Woburn town line is on Main Street. At the time, the road went around a small pond, which became known as Squaw Pond. In that same period, the French of Canada incited Indians to seek revenge during the so-called Queen Anne's War.

A band of Indians, seeking Benjamin Harnden, found the wrong house. Benjamin was probably living at the home of his father at the time. The Indians tore open the roof of the John Harnden house, entered, and killed Mrs. Harnden and some of the children. Deacon John Harnden was at church at the time of the attack.

The oldest girl, Abigail, took some of the children and hid behind a rock, which became known as Indian Rock. The Indians discovered them. The smaller children were kidnapped, and Abigail was thrown into a pond, which later became known as Morris' Pond. The pond was at what is now the northerly end of Marcia Road, but was mostly filled in during the construction of same.

The children were recovered the next morning by aroused settlers. Abigail grew up to marry a man whose mother had been put to death as a witch in Salem. After his death, she married Daniel Eames and lived in the red farm house on Woburn Street opposite Wildwood Street. She had a large family, and anyone named Eames in this country has a good chance of being descended from her.

Her son John, a selectman of Wilmington in the 1750's, inherited the "Massacre House" and put in there a family of French neutrals who were quartered in Massachusetts by the colonial government.

SAVING FOR COLLEGE - EASIER THAN EVER

College costs loom large, but current tax law is making saving easier, letting parents combine savings-plan options.

Coverdell Educational Savings Accounts—the new name for Education IRAs—have been beefed up. The maximum contribution will go up to $2,000 per child per year in 2002; the phase-out for donors will rise to an AGI of $190,000 for joint filers. Withdrawals are tax-free if used for educational expenses, even pre-college schooling.

Even larger contributions can go into the Section 529 Plan offered in most states. There's no income limit for contributors, and the contribution is not part of the giver's estate (though it can be recovered, if needed, with a penalty). Grandparents can give $50,000 into a plan and elect to have it spread over five years for gift-tax purposes. And this year, many parents can deduct up to $30,000 for college costs. Under a law recently passed, payouts will be tax-free here, too, if used for educational expenses. The law takes effect in 2002 for state colleges and universities, and 2004 for private institutions.

Saving and spending, when tax laws are involved, get the reliable information you need at

A Call for Book Smarts in the Library Debate

Libraries are dinosaurs? We say sic a T. rex on anybody who would make such a claim.

Just kidding, of course. However, during the weeks since the plans and price tag for a new library were revealed at a recent selectmen meeting, there have been some folks in Wilmington who have expressed a preference that the book be closed on the whole idea. Some residents don't want to spend the millions of dollars that will be needed to build such a facility. Others with history in their hearts do not want anybody to tamper with the beloved Whitefield School, which is where the new library is proposed to be built.

Big bucks and historical preservation are valid points to raise when opposing the construction of any type of new facility in town. In terms of building a new library, though, the argument that some have made that libraries are no longer relevant should not even qualify as a part of the debate.

Libraries remain relevant in this day and age. The Wilmington Memorial Library was built back in 1969, so of course it is too small and ill-equipped to adequately feature the technological leaps that have been made in the past decade. It would be unfair to cite the current library's outdatedness as a testimony to the supposed irrelevance of all such facilities.

It would also be narrow-minded to suggest that the Internet and a new library cannot co-exist. Yes, the World Wide Web is an inexhaustible resource, an absolute marvel that serves up encyclopedic knowledge at the tap of a finger. Not everybody has a computer, though. Not everybody would prefer a chat room to any single one of the forums presented at the library. Not every newspaper and magazine has its previous editions online. And, hey, even if you could read a classic or latest best seller online, would you really want to sit and stare at your computer for endless hours to read it?

Should millions be spent on a new library? Should the Whitefield School be used as its new location? Those are fair, responsible questions. To those who would answer "no" to one or both questions, though, it does not support their argument to suggest that libraries are bordering extinction.

One needs only to visit the new Tewksbury Public Library to understand that a state-of-the-art facility equipped with countless computers, boundless books and many meeting rooms can not only justifiably exist in a society, it can lead it as well.

Give Wilmington Memorial Library Director Tina Stewart a new facility, and she will prove that.

Letters to the Editor

Donations needed year-round

Dear Editor:
In the past holiday seasons, residents have been very generous in their donations to the Wilmington Food Commissary. We would like to thank those who have contributed food or other items to our supply.
Although past donations have been plentiful during the holiday season, there is still a growing need for donations year-round.
Anyone who wishes to donate food may take items to the Food Commissary (located inside the Swain School) between ten o'clock and noon Saturdays. You can also leave goods by your mailboxes, as the post office will happily collect them. Everything donated is always greatly appreciated.

Thank you for your concern.

Sincerely,
Wilmington Food Commissary

McCoy is a man of his word

Dear Editor:
I'm disappointed in the four selectmen who wouldn't allow their fellow board member, Mike McCoy, to put his non-binding moratorium question on the ballot. After all, it was non-binding, and would have served only as a tool for input from the residents. Don't they want to hear what we have to say? Do they even CARE about our opinions?
The last time I checked, this country was a democracy in which we all have freedom. However, I felt that my freedom of choice was not respected. I believe Mike McCoy is a man of his word, and when reelected, he will give the residents of this town their voice to speak and the opportunity to decide on the future of Wilmington.

B.P.
Wilmington

McCoy behaves like a career politician

Dear Editor:
If it walks like a duck and quacks like a duck, then it probably is a duck.
Selectman Michael McCoy behaves like a career politician, and he has a complete disregard for his constituents like a career politician. In my book, that makes him a career politician.

The next time people read McCoy's letters in this newspaper, insulting his constituents, they should think to themselves, as I do, "Quack! Quack! Quack!"

Why not renovate current library?

Dear Editor:
A brand new $8.5 million library would be very nice - if the town's schools, public buildings, local roads and other infrastructure were all in great shape, and the money was readily available at existing or lower tax rates.
As Mr. O'Reilly pointed out a couple of weeks ago, the existing building could be renovated to better utilize the current space. Encyclopedias, Consumer Reports, and many other publications are available via online subscription or on CD. Libraries are not obsolete, but the way they are used is changing. Money should be invested to modernize the town's library services and increase Internet access and resources to residents. If additional space is necessary perhaps a wing could be added in addition to renovation.

The current library is in a good central location, and is newer than many of Wilmington's public buildings. Before we spend half a million dollars on building plans perhaps a scaled down renovation play could be considered. What can be done for one or two million dollars?

Let's see some alternatives please.

Sincerely
Anne Barry

Don't let them tear down the Whitefield School

Marjorie Ethier isn't there to protect the Whitefield School now. Neither is "Hot Eggs" Horton, affectionately so named because, according to those "in the know," after she finished stinging your hands with the rattan stick they felt like they were holding fried eggs.

Some 50 years ago, these women were fearsome principals. How many students sat in after-school detention, wishing they could tear down the building? Oh, their issues were trivial. Spit balls, starting fights, maybe something as innocent as whispering to another student.

Little did these miscreants imagine that all they needed was patience.

In their lifetime, the Town of Wilmington itself, the very owner of the school, would step forward to tear it down. The town has a way of discarding things that makes the planned obsolescence of cars seem like the Smithsonian. Oops, the ashtray's full - tear it down. Goodbye, Walker School. So long, Center School. Mildred Rogers School - couldn't save it. Gone!

We're only interested in saving buildings that are 200 years old. The Whitefield was built in 1903. Quick! Tear it down, before it turns 100!

For decades, the town sent its little ones to the school. Children have no choice - you're going to school. "But I don't want to!" The response to that might be a swat or a "meaningful discussion," but the score was always the same: Parents 1, kids 0.

So they'd sit you in rows. To your left was the kid who collected remains of lunches in his desk. The girl in front of you had nice pigtailed that you'd love to dip in the inkwell, only by then, there were no inkwells. Funny how you remember these things.

Miss Leiter would lead you in the Lord's Prayer, an accepted ritual at that time. The blackboards were black, the lights were six large fixtures, the likes of which are now sold at premium. You couldn't wait for recess.

The school was so important then.

As the town grew, so did its school system. Just as one-room schoolhouses had given way to multi-room facilities 100 years ago, those schools were cast aside for newer, much larger schools in the 50s, 60s and 70s. The Whitefield saw its last students in 1976, a full quarter-century ago, one quarter of its life.

After the School Department abandoned the building, it became known as the "Town Hall Annex," with offices that didn't fit in the Town Hall: Conservation, Health Department, Planning Board. There was some modernization, new windows. When the Public Buildings Department moved in, Miss Leiter's room became the office of the superintendent of that department. Paneling, nice lighting. Other rooms became carpentry shops or an employee lounge.

The old schoolhouse somehow never received the care that a building of its age deserved. It was on a downhill slope, like a 1965 Plymouth that was still running in 1982.

But there was still something of value. Just as that 1965 Plymouth had a 426 Hemi under the hood, the Whitefield School is sitting on nine acres of land. And just as a gearhead wants to pull that motor for his dragster, the town wants to pluck the nine acres of land for... well, they've finally decided, it's for a new library.

The library issue surfaced long after the discussion of what they would do with the Whitefield School site. The destruction of the school was a foregone conclusion. The only question was what to do with the land.

They didn't ask anyone in town. After all, they were educated in Wilmington - what do they know? I mean, some of them even went to that school, what did they call it, the Whitefield?

The town sent them there for four years and taught them the three R's. And as they progressed through the school system, there was more to learn. History, science, foreign languages, government.

But for all those academic subjects, what they were really learning about was themselves. The real important question isn't who wrote Shakespeare, but who are you?

And for thousands of people now in middle age, the answer to that question is, "I'm a person who, as a kid, went to the Whitefield School."

Thus, the proposed destruction of the Whitefield does not sit well with this segment of the population. How would you like it if your heart were selected as a likely source for someone needing a transplant?

Oh, it's a noble cause, but there are other considerations. Is the town's history just a collection of photographs and stories? Sorry, the building was in the way, it had to go.

Oh, it's terrible, Wilmington has no "heritage" like Concord and Lexington. There's nothing of "architectural significance" here. And besides, the price of real estate is such that we just cannot afford to keep a building like that.

Well, if the town keeps tearing down its old buildings, there will be no heritage. You don't get 20-year-old buildings if you tear them down when they're 99.

There is enough room on that lot for both the Whitefield School and a library. And there is a way to do it.

Don't let them tear down that schoolhouse.

Letters to the Editor

Town has done "enough damage" to memories of the past

Dear Editor:
I am writing to you in regard to the Whitefield School. I don't think many of the townspeople know this, but a number of students who attended the Whitefield School back in the 40s and 50s assembled for a get-together at the Whitefield last September. In my case, as with others, it brought back a lot of memories of what it was like in the town back then.

I really don't like the idea of them tearing down the building, especially when the town of Wilmington has torn down all the rest of the old schools in the town: the Walker School, the Center School, the Mildred Rogers School, the Old North School. And I know there are a lot of other historic structures that the town has torn down.

So as I see it, the town has done enough damage to everyone's memories of the past. This includes the people who were in town well before we were born, as well as those who attended these schools.

I think it's time to save what is left of the past and present and preserve it. Let the building remain where it is and let the Historic Commission have stewardship of it so that there will be some memories to look back at from the town that everyone grew up in and loved so much.

I know from certain people who live in the town, there is a building there that is falling apart as I speak.

It is across from the high school, now the Swain School. If a new library is the goal of the town, then why can't the town tear down that building and put the new library there. It is close to the high school and is well centered in the town for all the people to attend and there is plenty of room for them to add a town hall complex.

Anti-moratorium developers send "same old, same old" letters

Dear Editor:
Hello, it's me again, responding to four letters to the editor in last week's paper. All four of those letters just so happen to be from various members of the development community.

An interesting observation I'd like to make is that all of those letters seem to have been printed previously - only some words and the signatures have been changed. There's no question, the letters are recycled, reprinted, and reshaped the same old, same old.

My "new" home and "new" restaurant were also referred to. My "new" restaurant was built in 1984 - 18 years ago. As far as my "new" home goes, it was built in 1994, eight years ago, in an existing subdivision. Again, not "new."

Since there appears to be tremendous interest in where I live, and work, and how "new" my personal assets are, I'd like to do the same for those letter writers who brought up the subject.

Here's the "Who's Who" in the letters to the editor against the moratorium.

First, we have Sharon Kelly. Ms. Kelly is a realtor who shares office space with, and sells new homes for the biggest developer in Wilmington, Joe Langone of Northeast Development.

Next, there's Steven Wright, who also share office space with, and installs septic systems and does excavating work for, you guessed it, Mr. Joe Langone of Northeast Development.

Then, there's Robert Mailey. He is a realtor and has sold homes for who??? That's right, Joe Langone of Northeast Development.

Finally, we have Bill Irwin, Jr., also in the development business, and guess what? He has worked with (insert drum roll here) Joe Langone of Northeast Development.

For the information of the residents of Wilmington, Mr. Joe Langone, of Northeast Development, is one of the leaders of the proposed Master Plan.

Can you imagine? No wonder why the development community is so up in arms about this proposed moratorium.

Selectman Michael McCoy
Wilmington

In support of Joe Russell for School Committee

Dear Editor:
During this time, we find ourselves facing financial challenges personally and politically. It is difficult to decide where cuts can be made without incurring serious long term ramifications.

In our home lives we decide what we can live without, use less of or find totally essential to maintain an acceptable lifestyle. We may sacrifice "extras" to hold on to what will be our most valuable resources in the future. Hopefully our experiences enable us to make responsible, informed decisions compatible with our current situation without sacrificing long term goals.

On a larger scale we elect officials to our local government to make these decisions for our community. We entrust them to make fiscally responsible decisions that we can afford to live with, asking them to preserve what we hold dearest. Realistically speaking all members of a community will not rank the issues at hand in the same order of importance. Therefore, when we make choices at the polls we need to seek those candidates who are committed to the community as a whole, as well as to the board they seek election too. We need people who have a proven ability to look at the big picture and make mature decisions in difficult times.

Over the years I have had the opportunity to witness Joe Russell in action as he has worked with parents, teachers, administrators, students and other town officials to develop quality programs in our school system. With three children in the school system Mr. Russell is well in tune with parent concerns for quality education presented in a safe environment. He is aware of the need to provide technical knowledge to our young people as we prepare them to go out into the world. A longtime homeowner, Joe is acutely attuned to the effects of town spending on an individual taxpayer's budget.

His continued community involvement is a tangible sign of his long-term commitment to the residents of Tewksbury. Those who have worked with Joe in the past can attest to his ability to listen to all sides of an argument, carefully weighing all feasible options, before making solid decisions that will be beneficial to the school system and the town as a whole.

Once elected to the School Committee I believe Joe would work with current members of the board to create a school budget that encompasses the broad scope of the town's needs without sacrificing the integrity of quality public education.

I hope you will consider Joe Russell for School Committee on Saturday, April 6, 2002.

Spera completes basic training

TEWKSBURY - Marine Corps Pfc Matthew T. Spear, a 1997 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School and son of Josephine L. and Thomas F. Walsh of 130 Eastgate Road, Tewksbury, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. and was promoted to his current rank.

Spera successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Spera and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m., by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Spera spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Spera and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values - honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Spera and fellow recruits ended the training phase with the Crucible, a 54 hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

Admission is $5. Among the features will be members' quilts, raffle quilt, gift table, quilt vendors and door prizes.

Rabies Clinic

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Board of Health's Annual Rabies Clinic will be held Saturday, April 6 from noon to 2 p.m. at the Public Buildings Department (formerly the location of the fire station on Church Street). Wilmington residents only. Dogs should be on a leash, cats should be in a carrier. Fee is $5.

SHAKE, RATTLE AND ROLL. Fourth graders Richard Barry, left, and Tomma Calla, right, shook maracas when they played "32 son clave" during a performance that was given at the North Intermediate School on Friday, March 15. The concert was the culmination of a week-long visit from Tony Vacca, who spent a week at the school and taught students world rhythms. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Drawing class in session

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Council for the Arts has started a drawing class at the Arts Center on Middlesex Ave. (route 62) on Tuesdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon until May 1. The class will include contour, gesture and detail drawing.

Subjects will include; still life, figures, faces, animals, flowers, buildings. Materials used will include pencil, charcoal, conte crayon, pens and pastel. Many aspects of drawing will be covered:

composition, shading, proportion, perspective, etc.

Valerie Borgal of Tewksbury will be the instructor. Valerie has won many awards for her art work and has been teaching art for many years with all ages.

If you have wanted to learn to draw but can't draw a straight line, this class is for you. If you want to improve your drawing skills this class is for you, too.

Call Valerie at 978-658-4693 for a supply list and cost.

Sweet earns athletic honor at St. Mark's School

TEWKSBURY - Erin Sweet, daughter of Bruce and Connie Sweet of Tewksbury, a member of St. Mark's girls varsity hockey team, received honorable mention in All Independent School League (ISL) voting by league coaches. The honor was announced at St. Mark's School's Winter Athletic Awards Ceremony held March 6.

Sweet is a sixth-former (senior) at St. Mark's School, Southborough, MA.

Founded in 1865, St. Mark's is a small co-educational boarding and day school for a diverse community of students and faculty from the local area, from all parts of the United States and from around the world.

WHS College Information Night

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Guidance Department will be sponsoring a College Information Night for Juniors Thursday, April 4 from 7 to 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

The program will consist of a panel of college admission representatives from Northeastern University, UMass Lowell and Middlesex Community College. The following topics will be discussed:

the importance of the transcript, curriculum, activities, SAT I and II's Early Decision, Early Action and Deadlines. The program also will include current seniors who will comment on what the process has been like for them these past few months.

We urge all college bound juniors and their parents to attend this very important meeting.

Tewksbury Public Workshop #8

TEWKSBURY - Thursday, March 21 at 7 p.m. the eighth Public Workshop of the proposed Zoning Bylaw will be held at the Community Room at the Tewksbury Public Library. The Workshop is a follow up to the meeting held March 14 and will cover some remaining outstanding issues of the proposed zoning bylaw. The results of this workshop will be forwarded to the Planning Board for their March 25 meeting.

The Tewksbury Planning Board encourages residents to attend and participate in the review and possible further revision of the draft Zoning Bylaw. This will most likely be the last public workshop prior to the March 28 closing of the warrant for the Spring Special Board Town Meeting.

Copies of the revised Zoning Bylaw are available for review at the Town Clerk's Office, Department of Community Development, and the Tewksbury Public Library. Copies are also available on the internet at www.tewksbury.info.

Any questions regarding the meeting of the draft copy may be directed to the Town's Department of Community Development at 978-640-4370.

Born in Northfield, N.H., March 21, 1925, she graduated from Tilton High School with the class of 1943 and moved to Wilmington in 1961 where she was employed as quality control clerk with Sweetheart Plastics for nearly three decades. She was also employed by Purity Supreme/Stop and Shop as a deli clerk for 19 years. She was a communicant of St. Thomas and St. Williams and enjoyed traveling with her family throughout the country and abroad.

In addition to her husband she is survived by her six children, four sons, Ted Buczynski and his wife Mary, John, Jim and his wife Julie, Michael and his wife Linda; two daughters, Zan and her husband Ken, Genevieve and her husband Louis; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; as well as four brothers, Neil Adams and his wife Betty, Norman and his wife Betty, Billy, Richard and his wife Shirley and their respective families.

Visiting hours will be held at the William F. Smart Sr. Memorial Home Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 and Thursday evening from 7 to 9. The mass of Christian Burial will be held Friday at 11 a.m. at St. Mary of the Assumption Catholic Church in Tilton, NH. Burial will be in the St. John Cemetery in Tilton at a later date.

Pauline M. Thiel

active Tewksbury Senior Citizen; Tewksbury resident for 56 years; at 79

TEWKSBURY - Pauline M. (Berrett) Thiel, 79, died unexpectedly Tuesday evening, March 12, 2002 at Saints Memorial Hospital in Lowell. She was the widow of Anton V. Thiel Jr., who died in May 2001.

Born in Malden, October 28, 1922, she was a daughter of the late Joseph L. and Margaret C. (Whelan) Berrett. She was raised in Wilmington but had lived in Tewksbury for the past 56 years.

Mrs. Thiel was active in senior activities as a frequent visitor to the Tewksbury Senior Crop-in Center and was a member of the Tewksbury Golden Age Club. She was also a communicant of St. William's Church.

She will be remembered as having devoted her life to her family.

She is survived by two daughters and sons-in-law, Janice and Frederick Leahy of Dracut, Arlene and Robert Lyons of Tewksbury; a son and daughter-in-law, Lawrence and Sharon (Pigott) Thiel of Dracut; a sister, Marie Hanlon of California; eight grandchildren, Jon Leahy of Dracut, Robert Leahy of N.Y., Brian Leahy of Londonderry, N.H., Jeffrey and Timothy Lyons of Tewksbury, Christopher, Kara and Jennifer Thiel of Dracut; three great-grandchildren, Drew Leahy and twins Jack and Julia Leahy.

Her funeral was scheduled for Saturday morning from the Tewksbury Funeral Home, corner of Dewey and Main Sts. (Rte. 38) Tewksbury Center, followed by a funeral mass in St. William's Church and interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, No. Tewksbury.

Memorials in her name to the Joslin Diabetes Ctr. 1 Joslin Pl. Boston, MA 02215 will be appreciated.

Helen J. Dango

graduate of WHS; mother of five; at 82

WILMINGTON - Helen J. Dango, 82, of Woburn, a native of Wilmington, died at her home Sunday following an illness of several months. She was the wife of Anthony J. Dango for almost 62 years.

Born in Wilmington, she was the daughter of the late Anthony and Julia (Pulkowska) Galka. She graduated from Wilmington High School and lived with her husband in Tewksbury for several years before moving to Woburn 43 years ago.

Mrs. Dango devoted herself to her husband and children, as well as her extended family. An extremely generous woman, she was known for putting others ahead of herself and was the first to help anyone in need. She will be deeply missed by the many whose lives she touched in the course of her lifetime.

In addition to her husband Tony, she leaves four daughters, Carol A. Pullo of Reading, Jean M. Dango of Woburn, Norma M. Johnson and her husband Charles of Dracut, and Linda D. Lucken and her husband Dennis of Woburn; a son James E. Dango and his wife Denise of Stoneham.

Three brothers, Peter Galka of N.H., Thomas Galka of Wilmington, and Francis Galka of Winchester; two sisters, Gladys Puchowski of Woburn and Elizabeth Chisholm of Woburn.

She was the beloved grandmother of David and Patrice Pullo, Trace, Christine, Pamela and Deborah Dango, Mark and Lisa Johnson, Jennifer Iritano and Eric and Isaac Lucken. Also surviving are five great-grandchildren.

A funeral service was scheduled to be held from the Lynch-Cantillon Funeral Home, 263 Main Street, Woburn on Thursday, March 21 at 11:15 a.m. followed by burial in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Mrs. Dango's memory to the Visiting Nurses Association of Middlesex East & Visiting Nurse Hospice, 607 North Avenue, Suite 17, Wakefield, MA 01880, or to the American Cancer Society, 30 Speen Street, Framingham, MA 01701.

Michael R. Sala

deliveryman for Suburban Propane, Marlboro

TEWKSBURY - Michael R. Sala, 51, former resident of Tewksbury, died unexpectedly at his Brattleboro, Vermont home Monday, March 4, 2002.

Born in Somerville, he was the son of Guido and Elizabeth (McDonald) Sala of Boynton Beach, Fla. He was raised in Tewksbury and graduated from Tewksbury Memorial High School.

He enlisted in the Navy and served during the Vietnam Era aboard the U.S.S. Guam. Upon discharge, he worked for several area trucking companies, most recently as a propane gas deliveryman for Suburban Propane based in Marlboro, MA.

Besides his parents, he is survived by twin children Tiffani and Tony Sala, both of Tewksbury, son Lee Steele of Lowell; two sisters, Claire Ayer of Essex, MA and Christine Nagle of Nashua, N.H.; a nephew, Timothy Ayer of Essex, two nieces, Alana and Stephanie Nagle of Nashua, N.H. and his dear friend Lorraine Nici of Brattleboro, VT and several aunts and uncles.

Following cremation, a graveside service will be held Thursday, March 21 at 2 p.m. in the veterans lot at Tewksbury Cemetery. Relatives and friends respectfully invited.

Memorials in his name made to the American Cancer Society, 30 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701 will be appreciated.

Rep. Miceli office hours

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - Representative James R. Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) has announced his monthly office hours for March on the following dates: Wilmington: Monday, March 25, 2002 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and 7:30 to 9 p.m., in the small conference room at the town hall. Tewksbury: From 9:30 to 11 a.m. and 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium at the town hall.

In addition Representative David M. Nangle (D-Tewksbury, Lowell and Andover) will be present at the Tewksbury office hours from 7:30 to 9 p.m. to answer questions or concerns of Tewksbury residents who live in Precinct 3.

Henry E. Proulx, Jr.

active in Tewksbury youth sports; restaurant service technician; at 51

TEWKSBURY - Henry E. Proulx, Jr., 51, a well known service technician in restaurants throughout the greater Boston area died Wednesday morning, March 13, 2002 at Saints Memorial Medical Center in Lowell. He was the husband of Sandra L. (Deinstadt) Proulx with whom he had celebrated their 23rd wedding anniversary this past August 5.

He was born in Rochester, N.H., a son of Elizabeth (Marsh) Proulx of Rochester, N.H. and the late Henry E. Proulx Sr. He was raised in Rochester, N.H. and graduated Spaulding High School. He attended Boston College.

Mr. Proulx served with the U.S. Army in Germany during the Vietnam Era and was employed by the Mass. Restaurant Equipment Service Company in Somerville and worked in restaurants and food processing companies throughout the greater Boston area.

He was active in Tewksbury Youth Sports Leagues where he served as coach for both girls soccer and boys basketball. He was a member of the Community Christian Fellowship Church of Lowell where he worked tirelessly and touched the hearts of many. He will be remembered for always reaching out to those in need. He will be remembered by his family as a loving and wonderful husband and father.

Besides his wife and mother, he is survived by three daughters and a son-in-law, Stacey and her husband Peter Brouillard of Lowell, Jill Proulx of VA, Shannon Proulx of Tewksbury; two sons, Steve Proulx and Jonathan Proulx of Tewksbury; a sister and brother-in-law, Yvette and her husband William Bickford of Methuen; three brothers and two sisters-in-law, David and Sharon Proulx of Framingham, N.H., James Proulx of Rochester, N.H., Martin and his wife Cathy Proulx of Worcester and extended family in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Arizona.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning, March 16 in the Community Christian Fellowship Church, 205 Industrial Ave., Lowell MA 01852. Memorials to the Henry Proulx Memorial Fund, c/o Medford Bank, 240 Main St., Wilmington, MA 01887 will be appreciated.

Sen. Tucker office hours

TEWKSBURY - Senator Sue Tucker has announced she will be holding her monthly office hours at Tewksbury Public Library on Tuesday, March 26 from 7 to 8 p.m. All town residents are invited to stop by.

Residents are also invited to contact Senator Tucker at her State House office by calling (617) 722-1612 or by emailing her at STucker@senate.state.ma.us.

Robert Reich, Democratic candidate for governor

Reich brings national experience to race

By AL TURCO

Daily Times Elections Desk

This week Democrat Robert Reich tries to convince readers that he should be the next Governor of Massachusetts. Libertarian Carla Howell, Green Party candidate Jill Stein and Democrats Warren Tolman and Steven Grossman have made similar pitches in the preceding weeks.

In the coming weeks Democrats Thomas Birmingham and Shannon O'Brien and Republican Mitt Romney, now that he is in, will introduce themselves, asking for support. Each article of this series begins with a brief summary of a candidate's background followed by an interview in question and answer format.

ROBERT REICH
(Democrat)

Robert Reich says Massachusetts was the hub of political idealism when he was a young man, and he says he has the skills to attract new generations of like-minded talent to state government in an overarching effort to transform the state from an embarrassment to a national model.

Reich, 55, is:

- a professor of social and economic policy at Brandeis University in Waltham,
- a high-priced public speaker for hire,
- the author of eight books primarily about economics and politics,
- a founder and national editor of the liberal political magazine, The American Prospect,

- and the husband of Northeastern University Law School Professor Clare Dalton.

The couple has lived in Cambridge for 20 years, raising two boys.

But Reich may be best known as President Bill Clinton's Secretary of Labor during Clinton's first term and Reich's subsequent criticism of Clinton for abandoning leftist ideals in favor of centrist electability.

Although Reich has never run for public office, he has an uber-pol's resume of experiences preparing him for a shot at being the Mass boss: Reich started out as a graduate of John Jay High School, a regional public high school in small-town Cross River, New York.

Reich then earned a bachelor's degree from Dartmouth College in 1968 and won a Rhodes Scholarship to study at Oxford where he received degrees in philosophy, politics and economics. Reich graduated from Yale Law School in 1973.

After law school he clerked for the Chief Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit, Frank Coffin, in Portland, Maine. Next Reich worked at the Supreme Court as Assistant to the U.S. Solicitor General.

After that Reich became Director of the Policy Staff for the Federal Trade Commission. Reich returned to Massachusetts in 1981 to join the faculty of Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government and Public Policy.

In 1992 Reich left Harvard to lead Clinton's economic transition team. He served as Secretary of Labor from January 1993 to January 1997 and then returned to Massachusetts and teaching at Brandeis. Reich continues to teach at Brandeis as he runs for Governor.

Reich has decided to take the plunge from theorist and adviser to elected public servant. He says he has the ideals and the experience to make a difference. Can Reich change Massachusetts for the better?

Question: Mr. Reich, it has been reported that you earned $750,000 last year giving speeches throughout the country while you were a Professor at Brandeis.

Will you continue to give paid speeches if you are elected Governor?

Reich: No. I'm available to give paid speeches only when I'm not in public service. This is the same rule that Colin Powell, Al Gore and Jimmy Carter use.

Question: What is your position on educational vouchers for private education and has this position changed over time?

Reich: I'm against vouchers for private school but in favor of backing kids

ROBERT REICH

Right now, Massachusetts companies can't find the skilled workers they need because people can't get the training.

Second, we must embrace smart growth, meaning a focus on economic development in our older cities while at the same time reducing suburban sprawl and preserving open spaces. To do this planners could use mixed use zoning or cluster zoning and the State could use its bonding authority to issue housing

FIFTH PART IN A SERIES

The Town Crier, as part of the Daily Times family, will be presenting an interview with each of the candidates for Governor.

Watch for this page each week.

from poor communities and giving them a choice of public schools. I don't want a system that drains from public schools; they need every penny.

We need to raise the educational capacity of all schools so children are not sorted any more than they already are by the areas they can afford to live.

And these poor children should have choices.

(Editor's note: Massachusetts communities have the option of opting in or out of the public school choice pool. The local School Committees vote. Stoneham, for example, opted out.)

I respect local decisions but will make the case for why public school choice is a good thing, especially the extra money it can bring to schools. Poor kids are often trapped in schools with little resources. One way to help them bust out of this cycle is to come back with more funding and allow students to choose the schools best using these funds. And I don't think everyone who lives in the city wants to go to school in the suburbs. Kids want good schools near their homes.

I wrote an article for The Wall Street Journal that was interpreted as supporting private school vouchers, but then I wrote another piece soon after, explaining that that was not my position.

(Editor's note: One of Reich's sons went to private schools. The other boy attended both private and public schools.)

Question: News reports indicated that despite your late start you did very well in the Democratic ward and town caucuses last month, winning in excess of 600 delegates to the Democratic State Convention in June. How many delegates do you have? Will you get the necessary 15 percent (around 750) to get on the Democratic Primary ballot in September?

Reich: I'm confident I'll get on the ballot. We have been holding weekly town meetings around the state, which are great opportunities to meet people.

Question: If you don't get on the Democratic Primary ballot, would you consider running as an Independent?

Reich: No.

Question: Because of your late entry into the race many of the other candidates for the Democratic nomination got a jump on fund-raising. How much money do you think you will have to raise and spend to win the primary? And how much do you have so far?

Reich: We've raised a little over a hundred thousand dollars. We need at least $300,000 to be competitive.

Editor's note: Reich supports the Clean Elections Law that calls for public financing for candidates who agree to fund-raising and spending restrictions. Voters approved the law on the 1998 state ballot, but the State Legislature refuses to fund the program. Reich was considering running as a Clean Elections candidate before it became obvious that the money won't be there.

Question: In your 1997 book, "Locked in the Cabinet," you state that you advised President Clinton not to sign the Welfare Reform Bill. Welfare rolls have dropped dramatically since passage of the bill. Were you right about this bill?

Reich: Yes, because the bill did not do enough to create better access to job training and healthcare when people are trying to get off welfare. If you can't get a job that lifts you out of poverty, you go from welfare dependent to working poor. That's not progress.

Question: What is the biggest issue facing Massachusetts, and what would you do about it as Governor?

Reich: Economic growth and better jobs are needed. A typical household in Massachusetts was poorer by the end of the 1990s than at the beginning of the decade. This is just about the only state where that happened. This is evidence of an underlying economic problem beyond the recession.

To address this problem we must first develop a world-class system of public education starting with affordable childcare and extending from kindergarten through high school and into high-quality, affordable, public post secondary schooling.

Our state colleges are starved for money, and this is holding us back because most people who attend state colleges stay in the state and bring their skills back to Massachusetts companies.

bonds or environmental bonds.

Third, a regional transportation policy should be developed.

Question: As Governor what would you do about the Big Dig?

Reich: First, I would get control of the costs by implementing rigid auditing and accounting. I would set up a real system of checks and balances, not the cozy relationship between the State and the general contractor (Bechtel / Parsons Brinckerhoff). And I would demand accountability.

Second, there is no substitute for a regional transportation plan. We should look at how Amtrak and the Commuter Rail can supplement our overcrowded highways and how trains can be a part of an overall plan. We subsidize automobiles in the Big Dig and air travel with the recent federal bailout, but rail is a poor cousin.

Question: What should be done to improve healthcare in Massachusetts?

Reich: We need to reduce the administrative costs. We can do that. Massachusetts is one of the software capitals. There is no reason why we cannot leverage our brains and work to improve the systems used to free up resources.

We should also use the tobacco settlement money and raise the cigarette tax. And we should invest in preventative healthcare. It is insane to cut back in this as Acting Governor Jane Swift has proposed (about anti-smoking efforts).

Cutting prevention efforts is penny wise and pound foolish. We must also be careful because regional and community hospitals, which are closing, are the first line of prevention in many instances.

To reduce prescription drug costs, we should join a purchasing cooperative with other New England states.

Eventually the nation should come around to a single-payer system; this is the fairest and most efficient way. But a state can't do that alone.

Question: What are your positions on the death penalty and abortion?

Reich: I am against the death penalty on moral grounds. I believe in freedom of choice. The Supreme Court got it right in Roe v. Wade.

NESWC communities receive $4.1 million MTC grant

BOSTON - The North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC) has announced that the NESWC communities received $4.1 million dollars from the Massachusetts Renewable Energy Trust Fund to help offset the costs of federally mandated environmental upgrades to the regional waste-to-energy facility in North Andover.

The Massachusetts Technology Collaborative (MTC) administers the Fund, a grant program established by the Legislature as part of the Electric Restructuring Act of 1997. Fund monies promote a cleaner environment, help ensure a more diverse energy generation portfolio and help reduce fiscal pressure on municipal budgets.

"The NESWC communities continue to face rising municipal waste disposal costs as a result of heightened environmental standards. This grant program is helping communities pay for these rising costs and helping solve an important environmental problem," said Greg Watson, Vice President and Program Director of Renewable Energy.

"We are pleased that we can ensure cleaner air through this program," said Bob Durand, Secretary of Environmental Affairs. "The upgrades to the pollution control equipment have, among other things, allowed the facility to meet the toughest mercury emissions standards in the country."

Senator Bruce Tarr, NESWC Senate Legislative Caucus Co-chair, said, "As legislators, it is our obligation to help our communities manage their wastes in an integrated environmentally and economically sound manner. This grant money helps reduce the high financial costs our constituents pay for waste disposal services and will free up scarce municipal resources."

Representative Barry Finegold, House Caucus Co-chair, said "it is very rewarding as a legislator to see the fruits of our labors being realized across the commonwealth. The communities that comprise NESWC are faced with particularly tough decisions when it comes to paying for waste management services. With this grant program, this task becomes a little less daunting and allows these communities to further address other waste related issues such as recycling and toxicity reduction."

"This grant program is a key element of NESWC's comprehensive program to reduce the financial burden on taxpayers who have helped to protect the environment," said Robert Moroney, Chairman of the NESWC Board of Directors. "We appreciate the work of the NESWC Legislative Caucus, the Legislature, the Swift Administration and the other community members of the Waste-to-Energy focus group in securing this crucial financial assistance. We also want to thank the MTC and their advisors for their support and assistance in crafting and administering this successful grant program."

The NESWC communities pay average trash disposal fees of $130 per ton, which will grow to $145 per ton in FY 2003, more than twice the statewide average. NESWC, a not-for-profit consortium representing the waste disposal interests of the 23 communities, continues to pursue alternative solutions to further reduce this financial burden resulting from the retrofit, required by the Federal Clean Air Act, and the back end loading of the original debt obligation established by the 1983 financing. Today, the outstanding principal yet to be paid is approximately $114 million.

"Reducing the environmental and economic budget has been a priority issue in our communities," said Shawn Worster, Executive Director of NESWC. "We thank the NESWC Legislative Caucus, and in particular Senators Tarr and Tucker and Representatives Finegold, Miceli, Murphy and Nagle for helping the cities and towns receive the $4.1 million MTC grant. This financial assistance is a direct result of their guidance, leadership and support. We look forward to continuing to work together on an ongoing basis."

The NESWC communities that deliver the non-recycled portion of their solid waste to the Wheelabrator North Andover Facility are: Acton, Arlington, Andover, Bedford, Belmont, Boxborough, Burlington, Carlisle, Dracut, Hamilton, Lexington, Lincoln, Manchester-by-the-Sea, North Andover, North Reading, Peabody, Tewksbury, Watertown, Wenham, Westford, West Newbury, Wilmington and Winchester.

Winchester Hospital

Senior care funding facing problems

By JIM HAGGERTY

WINCHESTER - What's next for Winchester Hospital?

Two weeks ago, the Zoning Board of Appeal granted the special permits the Winchester Hospital needs to expand its Emergency Room.

The approval, however, has now opened other doors

Reich

Question: Why are you a Democrat?

Reich: I believe in high quality public education, affordable healthcare and childcare, environmental protection - objectives worth fighting for. And I believe as members of the same society we have a mutual obligation and responsibility to help everybody get ahead. No one working full time should be in poverty. These are basic Democratic principles, and I live by them.

Question: Why should the people of Massachusetts elect you Governor?

Reich: Every Democratic candidate would make a better Governor than the Acting Governor. I believe I bring something extra to the table. I have been the U.S. Secretary of Labor where the annual budget was bigger than the annual budget of Massachusetts.

I have spent half my adult life in public service to improve the economy and create good jobs. I think I can attract talented people and work toward creative solutions.

Editor's note: Volumes have been written by and about Robert Reich. If you want to take a closer look, type his name into an Internet search engine and explore.

of concern for Winchester Hospital officials who are looking at the actuality of an expanded and improved ER, the need to get state approvals and to turn their attention towards other programs and projects within the hospital.

Also, two weeks ago, major tours were given to the Breast Cancer Center at Baldwin Park II in Woburn, a facility on the building's third floor, that has been upgraded and pointed towards the future.

Still, there are a host of issues on the front burner to be resolved viz. adequately funding the cost of care for seniors, the diversion of patients from the Winchester Hospital when an overload exists, and an increasing inability of the Boston area and Massachusetts to keep capable physicians and nurses.

All are problems at the Winchester Hospital.

The $17 million upgrading of the Emergency Room is well underway with the approval two weeks ago from the town of Winchester's ZBA. A 90-day waiting period is in process but hospital officials are now comfortable with the outcome.

"The funding for senior services are at a critical stage," says President and CEO Dale Lodge, who has managed to get some contracts with major insurance providers e.g. Blue Cross & Blue Shield and the Tufts Health Plan behind him. Next up will be Harvard Pilgrim and the senior's plan, Secure Horizons. Both Harvard and Tufts, he said, are now in better financial shape after problems a year ago.

In the past year, however, Winchester Hospital kept its Secure Horizons relationship but "exited" Blue Care 65 and First Seniority. And, a safety net, Medicare, is now causing problems. Medicare, hospital officials noted, was in the black and covering costs last year but will only cover about 93% of costs by 2005 if federal and state funds are not used to put funds into the system very quickly.

Medicare was the life support system for seniors but is now a problem area, Lodge admits.

Diversion ...other problems

Lodge is also quick to point out that the Lahey Clinic in Burlington is #1 for diversion and Winchester Hospital is #2 in the state i.e. the number of hours per day and per week when the Emergency Room is closed down.

"As it gets worse, it takes just that much longer to get to all the patients," notes Lodge.

As an example, diversion at Winchester Hospital is on the rise, growing from an average of 30 hours a week in 2000 to 60 hours a week in 2001.

In recent days, Lodge also pointed out a study by the Mass. Medical Society that shows physicians and nurses who are trained in Massachusetts are leaving the state to go elsewhere. Five years ago, the state was competitive, he said, but not anymore. As an example, Lodge points to the fact of 300 anesthesiologists trained last year in Massachusetts, only 8 stayed in the state. As another example, hospital officials point to the fact the average age of an operating room nurse at Winchester Hospital is 43 years old. A labor shortage, they maintain, is a major issue at this point in time.

Add to these woes are the fact the bond rating for Winchester Hospital and other hospitals are getting downgraded each year as problems go unresolved.

Also, on the medical landscape, Winchester hospital officials are wary of such developments such as Hale Hospital being purchased by Essent, the sale by Hallmark of the Whidden Memorial Hospital and their attempts to sell the Malden facility.

There is also the fact, they note, that two-thirds of all Mass. Hospitals are now losing money on operations.

Some positives

While keeping eye on costs, Lodge in an interview yesterday at the Winchester Hospital cited the accomplishments, to include:

- The conversion of the Transitional care Unit (TCU) into a new 21-bed inpatient unit on level B3 at the hospital; begin at eight that evening, costs $10 a ticket. It promises to be a night of delicious food, professional comedians and such raffle prizes as a 25-inch color TV from Wal-Mart in North Reading, a gift certificate to Applebees and a puck and basketball that has been autographed, respectively, by the Boston Bruins and Celtics. There'll even be a 50/50 prize, in which half the money raised by raffle tickets will go to a lucky winner.

Anybody who wishes to purchase tickets to the comedy show on April 7 can call Dennis Sullivan at 978-455-4904. If, however, you cannot make it to the reward benefit but wish to contribute to its amount, then please send your check to: Amy Sullivan Witness Fund/Lowell 5 Cents Savings Bank/1775 Main Street/Tewksbury, MA 01876 or Lieutenant Dennis Peterson/Tewksbury Police Department/Tewksbury, MA 01876.

Grill 93 can be found off exit 45 on Route 93. Once off the exit ramp, you'll see a Mobil Station. Drive towards it, turn into the Taje Inn, go around to the back of it, and there it will be.

"We're asking local businesses to donate whatever they can, so that we can get a killer off the streets," says Dennis.

For Amy's mother, Barbara, the reward money represents the Sullivans' best hopes that somebody in the know will finally grow a conscience.

"We as a family would like to know how this vicious killer can sleep at night and how people who know who killed Amy can live their lives in a normal way," says Barbara. "Will they ever have a conscience to come forward and give information?"

The Sullivans have been told by authorities that the person who killed Amy could easily kill again. Given that, believe the Sullivans, anybody who has crucial information about Amy's murder could be sorely mistaken if they feel that they are safe as long as they keep quiet.

"There are victim witness programs that can help people who help the police," says Barbara. "If someone knows anything and he or she believes that they are safe if they keep silent, they're not. They can get more protection from the police than they ever could from keeping their mouth shut."

Tewksbury Lieutenant Dennis Peterson, who feels confident that he knows the identity of Amy's killer but needs more concrete information before he can proceed, stands behind the Sullivans' efforts to raise money for a reward.

"Whatever it takes to bring Amy's case to a close, I support it 110 percent," says Lieutenant Peterson.

For those who have information about the murder of Amy who may be reading this article, there are a few things that the Sullivans would like them to know about their daughter, things that speak to the tremendous loss experienced by them as a result of this tragedy.

Amy, whose birthday fell on Saint Patrick's Day, would have been 23 years old last Sunday. She would have celebrated her big day alongside her grandmother, Jean DiGiorgio, who was also born that day.

Amy had an IQ of 185. She was so intelligent, in fact, that when she was a student at Shawshen Tech her parents were encouraged by educators to have her take her GED and head straight to college.

"Her grades were remarkable," Dennis says. "She was an extremely bright young woman."

Amy was a welder and an artist.

Amy had a wonderful heart. She cared deeply about homeless and hungry people. Whenever she encountered a homeless person when she visited Boston, she would open her purse and give the individual as much money as she had.

"She would tell us that they needed her money more than she did," remembers Dennis. "She couldn't stand having even spare change on her and knowing that those people didn't have anything."

Amy was a family-oriented sister and daughter, dearly loving her parents, her younger brother, Keith, and her older brother, Tom, and her relatives. "Family meant such a great deal to her," says Barbara. "Her two brothers are greatly affected by her death, and so are we."

with Woburn's Conservation Commission in the final stages with only a "certificate of compliance" needed.

The Woburn City Council approved a series of special permits for the project in September, precisely at the time at which terrorists attacked the United States and sent the economy into a downturn.

Even at that point, though, callan noted lease revenue expectations had declined since the plans for the project were filed with the Woburn City Clerk in May of 2001.

Callan, who also developed Edgewater Office Park in Wakefield, first proposed an office park for the Inwood site in 1984. He sold the property four years later, when, coincidentally, the economy was experiencing a downturn. In 1998, he bought the property again, with the intent of reviving his proposal for the office park.

Despite the apparent peril faced by the project, Tarby said, "We're still confident something will get worked out with the bank."

High speed chase leads to arrest

way. Sure enough, Officer Alpers saw the suspect, made eye contact with him as he passed, and turned his cruiser around to pull him over.

Instead, the suspect, 33-year-old Mahoney, stepped on the gas and kicked off a high speed chase. Mahoney quickly turned right at the intersection of Routes 38 and 62 and careened towards Lowell Street. By the time that Mahoney passed the Town Crier on Lowell Street, he had as many as a handful of police cruisers hot on his trail.

Mahoney sped through the intersections of Lowell and Woburn Streets and Lowell and West Streets and veered right onto the on-ramp for Route 93 South. The cruisers kept on his tail until he took Exit 37C on Route 93 and sped into the parking lot of the new Anderson Transportation Center. At that point, a police officer from Woburn had joined the chase.

"He had one opening in which he could have driven through a fence into a lot where people were walking, but one of the cruisers kind of came at him at an angle, so he sort of got boxed in," says Wilmington Police Chief Bernard Nally.

According to Chief Nally, Mahoney was "fairly" compliant when officers moved in to arrest him. Once handcuffed, the suspect was turned over to the Burlington Police Department, where he was charged for the robbery. Mahoney has also been charged by the Wilmington Police Department for an assortment of motor vehicle-related offenses.

Upon Mahoney's capture, authorities discovered a number of prescription bottles containing Oxycontin, as well as other drugs that he had on his person.

The capture of Mahoney is good news for the Tewksbury Police Department. In November of last year, a robber held up a clerk at the Walgreens on Main Street and escaped with quantities of Oxycontin. The suspect, according to witnesses and video images caught on security cameras, had a shamrock tattoo and wore an Irish ring. When Mahoney was caught on Tuesday, he indeed had such marks and jewelry on his body. "He admitted his role in the robbery in November," says Tewksbury Lieutenant Dennis Peterson.

The Tewksbury Police Department has filed a warrant against Mahoney.

more years at school in which their attendance rate consistently stands at 95 percent or higher. Lastly, the students who wish to appeal would have to show that they participated in such programs as Project Success or other ones that had been put in place by the school system to help them improve.

"If there are students that are going to participate in that appeals process, then they need to make sure that they are taking care of meeting all of the criteria that they will have to have in their application," said O'Donnell.

School Committee Thomas Siracusa asked O'Donnell if a student's MCAS scores would appear on his or her transcript if he or she successfully appeals their case and graduates from high school. According to O'Donnell, there is a proposal before the Board of Education that recommends that a student's MCAS scores appear in his or her record, but that such a recommendation has not yet faced a vote.

Said O'Donnell, "At this point, that's a subject of debate across the state."

Lisa Brothers receives Executive Award

WILMINGTON - Wilmington resident, Lisa A. Brothers, P.E., Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Judith Nitsch Engineering, Inc. (JNEI) in Boston, received this year's Pinnacle Award as the Emerging Executive from the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The Women's Network of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce presented the eighth annual Pinnacle Awards in recognition of women in Greater Boston who have achieved excellence in business, management, and the professions.

As one of the few women engineers leading an organization, Lisa continues to break new ground with each new responsibility she undertakes. She is principal, co-owner, and chief operating officer of JNEI, responsible for the daily workings of the firm and keeping the staff and services of the company running smoothly. Lisa is an acknowledged expert in construction, design, and infrastructure-related engineering projects. Her efforts on behalf of her firm's clients have resulted in such landmark projects as the new Hilton Hotel at Logan Airport and the expansion of the New England Aquarium.

When asked her definition of success, Lisa replied, "I have a lot of juggling to do with raising a family and being COO of my firm, but both my personal life and professional world are very important to me. Having a happy home life, as well as helping to run a flourishing business, I consider myself very successful indeed! Success to me is earning the respect of your family, peers, employees, and people in the industry. Without respect, you can't be successful."

Lisa is a graduate of the University of Lowell and brings 18 years of experience in the design, construction and management of roadway, site development and infrastructure-related projects to the firm. She is a member of the Wilmington Conservation Commission, American Society of Civil Engineers, Society of Women Engineers, and Women's Transportation Seminar.

Judith Nitsch Engineering, Inc. is a civil engineering, land surveying, and planning firm, certified as a Woman Business Enterprise, with 50 employees. In the 12 years since its founding, JNEI has provided professional services to public agencies, academic clients, developers, corporate and institutional owners, architects, and other design professionals on a variety of project types.

Wilmington Library Notes by Christina Stewart

Interlibrary loans on the rise

WILMINGTON - With the implementation of the new powerful web based catalog "iPac" by the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium that allows patrons to place their own reserves for library material, interlibrary loan statistics increased dramatically in 2001. The Wilmington Memorial Library borrowed 6,292 items from other libraries for our patrons - an increase of 63 percent over 2000. In turn our library loaned 6,985 items to other libraries for their patrons - an increase of 55 percent over 2000.

Patrons who use the online reserve system have commented how much quicker they are getting books that they request. For example, if a patron requests a book that Wilmington owns that is checked out, a request will be triggered automatically to another library that owns the book. The interlibrary loan courier, funded by the Northeast Massachusetts Regional Library System, delivers the book to Wilmington. The library then notifies the patron by email or telephone that the book is available for pickup. Consequently, the patron does not have to wait until the Wilmington copy is returned. All patrons in the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium benefit when each library maintains a collection of up to date resources that can be shared through improved theological infrastructure.

Any patron who would like to learn more about how to reserve a book on the iPac may ask the reference librarian for instructions. Handouts are also available near the reference desk.

Other library statistics
Other areas that showed increased activity include circulation at 179,932 for 2001, an increase of six percent over 2000; 118,437 visits to the library in 2001, an increase of three percent over 2000; the Internet use log showed 6,828 users, an increase of 14 percent over 2000.

Friends of the Library Annual Meeting

The Friends of the Library annual meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 21 at 7 p.m. Hugh Wiberg will be the guest speaker.

New Business Reference Book
Wilmington Memorial Library has just subscribed to a new publication from the Weiss Ratings, Inc. It is a quarterly compilation of rating and analysis covering common stocks traded on the NYSE, AMEX and NASDAQ. Weiss Ratings, Inc. publishes their ratings independent of the companies involved. Most people in the work force are now involved in selecting companies to invest in as part of their retirement package. They may need help in tracking and evaluating performance of common stock holdings. The ratings guide provides an alphabetical listing of common stock, as well as the top and bottom performers and listings by industry. What sets the Weiss guide apart from other rating tools is the fact that it considers both fundamental and technical risk factors.

Children's Department
Spring crafts: Origami butterflies and rabbit pins are some of the crafts planned for this drop-in spring crafts program for children ages five and up to be held on Friday, March 29 at 3:30 p.m.

Book Discussion: Sunwing by Kenneth Oppel, the companion book to Silverwing, will be the book of discussion on Friday, April 5 at 3:30 p.m. Sunwing, recommended for children in grades five through eight is an action packed Canadian fantasy filled with details of a bat world. Readers need not have read Silverwing to enjoy Sunwing and are welcome to drop in on the discussion.

Town Meeting

Just a reminder - the annual town meeting will be held Saturday, April 27, at Wilmington High School. Funding for the design phase of a proposed new library building will be on the agenda. Preliminary drawings are available for viewing at the library. Please plan on attending.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Know The Basics Of Electrical Wiring

(HIT)-Understanding the fundamentals of electrical wiring can be valuable, particularly when you're making simple repairs or home improvements. A three-way switch, for example, is commonly used in lighting circuits to turn a light on and off from two locations. They are often used at either end of a hallway or stairs. But if one of these switches needed replacement, do you have the knowledge to wire it in correctly?

Knowing electrical wiring fundamentals can also keep you and your loved ones safe. Replacing a standard receptacle outlet with a ground-fault circuit interrupter (GFCI) can greatly reduce the risk of a shock or a fire. GFCI's are similar to fuses or circuit breakers, only much more sensitive to electrical faults. But, unlike fuses or circuit breakers that depend on heavy overloads to function, GFCI's sense very small electrical faults, and cut power instantly before anyone is injured. In fact, the National Electrical Code requires them on receptacles in bathrooms, garages, around pools, and on all outside receptacles.

With this brief review of GFCI's and three-way switches, where do you go next to understand wiring fundamentals? You'll need a book that illustrates several common circuits used for lighting and receptacle outlets. Full-color illustrations are best, because you can quickly see where each color wire should go. Any library will have books on this topic, or you can purchase one from local home centers or hardware stores.

One interesting teaching aid uses the power of your home computer to explain electrical wiring. "Safe Electrical Wiring Techniques" uses on-screen color graphics and interactive exercises to assemble the most common types of electrical circuits. As a circuit is shown on the screen, the user must point and click where each wire should go. The on-screen exercises go from basic concepts, all the way to point-and-click assembly of lighting circuits, receptacles, and service panels. With some practice, the user can then go inside example buildings to wire the lights and outlets. The CD runs on nearly all home computers, and costs $89 plus shipping. To learn more, contact the National Food and Energy Council at 1-573-875-7155 or visit www.nfec.org under "Materials to Order" to view the graphics.

All Furnaces Need Check-ups

(HIT)-All heating systems should be serviced periodically by a qualified contractor to ensure top performance, according to the American Gas Association. Such maintenance will ensure safe and efficient operation.

Heating contractors should follow the manufacturer's maintenance guidelines for each unit in accordance with local building codes and regulations, AGA says.

The check-up should include:

- inspection of the furnace vent system;
- removal of any leaves, nests or other obstructions from inside the chimney;
- replacement or cleaning of the air filter;

- lubrication of the blower motor;
- replacement of blower belts, if needed;
- cleaning of pilots and burner chamber;
- removal of dust and lint from furnace vents, registers and baseboard heaters; and
- cleaning and adjusting of thermostats.

Brick Offers Greatest Options

(HIT)-Home buyers choosing their new home's exterior this spring will discover that brick now offers more ways to create individual looks through textures, colors, shapes and sizes - all with its unique, human touch.

"Every brick home, regardless of the amount of brick used - from a brick front to four sides brick - is custom handcrafted," said Tom Perry, vice president, marketing, the Brick Industry Association (BIA).

Reston, Va. "And more than any other siding material, brick gives homeowners the freedom to add charm and character at virtually any price point," he said.

Although many home buyers choose brick because they want an attractive, low-maintenance exterior that adds quality and value (adding only six percent to the cost of the house), they're also realizing how the following options allow them to create an utterly unique look.

Special shapes such as door arches are one way to add individual style and quality. This arch uses hand-made brick for a truly custom look.

Owning your own home has always been a sensible thing to do. But did you know it can also make a lot of dollars and cents? It can, if you have a fair amount of equity built up in your home. Because you can use that equity to obtain a home equity line of credit or a second mortgage from The Lowell Five. Either of these loans is an ideal way to receive money to pay for college tuition, a car purchase or any other major expense. And here's the best part: the interest you pay on these loans may be tax deductible*. Garage Organization: Most Abused Room In The House Ten Energy-Saving Ideas

Key is the high tech system

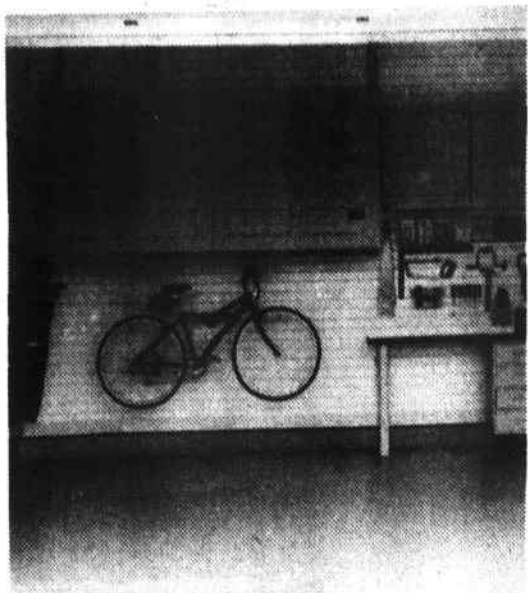

(HIT)—It's easy to make the garage a room for all those things we don't really have a place for.

"We tend to use the garage as a 'catch-all' for many of the items we need, but don't know what to do with," says Marc Shuman, founder of GarageTek®, a company that specializes in organizing garages. The Port Washington - NY based company offers custom designed garage organization systems using its own patented TekPanel™ System. Included are high-performance cabinets, shelving, activity racks and accessories. Just beginning to franchise the concept, Shuman has prospective franchisees lined up. They run the gamut from downsized tech executives, to developers who are incorporating the high tech garage systems into the homes they are building.

According to Shuman, the garage is the most "abused" room in the house and can easily be turned into a high value asset of the home. To get the process of "spring cleaning" in the garage going, Shuman recommends you do the following:

- Arrange items that you want to keep into separate piles.

- Determine what kinds of containers will best store these items.
- Hang pegs to organize certain items—even lawn chairs can be stored on long pegs.
- Bicycles can be hung from the rafters when not in use. When the bicycles are in use, assign a certain place for them to be parked.

- Keep as many items off the floor as possible so it's easy to sweep often. (Twice a month is a good schedule. Remember that dust from the garage often ends up in the house.)
- If you have bare studs in the garage,

- place slats of wood across the studs to create bins for items like sports equipment and gardening tools.
- Hammer nails into the wall or into the studs for tools and other articles.
- Keep similar items together in marked containers and go through them once a season to clean out things you're not using anymore.
- Hang shelves and keep storage containers marked with items like toys, tennis balls, nails, lawn chemicals, etc.
- Use hooks instead of nails for items such as outdoor clothing, backpacks, umbrellas, etc.
- Keep the items you'll need for the season (rakes, lawnmowers, etc.) close to the front of the garage.
- Strap items like bats and fishing rod together for easier storage and transport.
- Take this organizing opportunity to take inventory of items you'll need for the spring such as missing garden tools.
- Hang garden hose, spare tires and other unwieldy equipment up to prevent accidents.

(HIT)—Using energy wisely can reduce consumption and save money on utility bills, according to the American Gas Association. Here are some tips:

1. Seal leaks around doors, windows and other openings, such as pipes or ducts — with caulking or weather-stripping.
2. Set thermostats between 65 and 70 degrees in the winter, at least 5 degrees lower when sleeping, and at 58 degrees when away from home for more than a few hours. (Warmer temperatures are recommended for homes with ill or elderly persons or infants.)
3. Set water heater temperatures at 140 degrees (at 120 degrees in homes with infants or elderly persons to guard against accidental scalding), and install water-flow restrictors in showerheads and faucets.
4. Change filters or clean the filters in heating and cooling units twice a year. Close vents and doors in unused rooms. If pipes or ducts run through unheated areas, insulate them.
5. Use drapes, shutters, awnings, shade trees, glass with reflective film or solar screens to keep sunlight out in the summer and let it in during the winter.

6. Check to see if attic and basement (or crawl space) have the recommended level of insulation.
7. If you have a woodburning fireplace, consider installing a natural gas fireplace insert, which can save on energy costs compared with wood. A gas fireplace also will dramatically reduce the air pollution created from burning wood.
8. Consider storm or thermal windows and doors or double paned glass. A less-expensive alternative is plastic sheeting, which can be temporarily fastened over doors and windows to retain heat or air conditioning.
9. Be sure that dishwashers, washing machines and clothes dryers are fully loaded before running.
10. When buying new appliances, compare energy efficiency ratings and annual operating costs. A slightly higher initial cost for a high-efficiency appliance could pay itself back in a very short time through energy savings and lower utility bills. Many natural gas utilities offer assistance and special programs designed to help consumers reduce their energy bills. Contact your local gas utility for more information.

Manage Your Lawn To Minimize Water Use And Maintain Quality Turf

(HIT)—Did you know that you can pre-condition your lawn so that it can withstand summer heat?

According to the non-profit Turf Resource Center, for the best results, and an even stronger lawn when the summer begins to fade toward autumn you should start immediately to prepare your lawn by following these simple steps:

Step 1.

Reduce or eliminate fertilizer and weed control applications at least 30 days before you expect the temperatures to start increasing toward summer highs. While fertilizers encourage growth, they also create a lush rush of growth that does not withstand the high summer temperatures very well. Weed-killing herbicides, while targeting unwanted plants, may also place grass under stress that reduces its rate of growth.

Step 2.

Gradually raise the cutting height of your mower by 25 to 50 percent as the temperatures increase during the summer. Longer grass encourages deeper roots and shades the soil better.

Step 3.

Mow as frequently as necessary so you never remove more than one-third of the grass blade at a time. Increased mowing frequency will encourage deeper roots that are essential to your lawn's health when the summer gets hotter and hotter. Also, always make sure your mower blade is sharp so that the grass blade is cut cleanly and not ripped raggedly.

Step 4.

Water your lawn late at night or early morning, at a rate that can soak deeply into the soil. Most lawns need about one-inch of rain or irrigation water every week. Light and frequent

The drought pre-conditioned Kentucky bluegrass on the right actually experienced two cycles of 14-day drying and then re-watering before exposure to high temperatures of 95 degrees (day) and 86 degrees (night) in growth chambers. The tests results of better turf quality are obvious — Bingru Huang, Ph.D.

sprinklings encourage shallow roots that can't provide the grass with all of the moisture it will need during hotter times. Infrequent, deep watering encourages deeper and deeper roots.

Step 5.

If severe watering restrictions are enforced, ration the water available to you by establishing priorities for your lawn. You may want to use the water on the portion of your yard that receives the most use or traffic or apply it to that area of your yard that you want to keep green. If proper steps have been taken, allowing your lawn to go dormant and be a golden brown during the hottest part of the summer can be an acceptable solution as it should re-green when the heat subsides and water can be applied. Attempting to maintain an entire lawn that is perfectly green, when only limited water is available, may be impractical and certainly frustrating. It could also result in a weaker lawn if you attempt to lightly sprinkle the entire lawn.

Step 6.

As the summer heat subsides, or watering restrictions are eased, you can start by once again watering deeply, but infrequently; allow increased traffic on all areas and gradually lower the mowing height. If weed control is necessary, you should first allow the grass to re-establish its health.

Step 7.

Actions you can take in early fall, to strengthen your lawn for the winter and especially next summer, include aerating and/or de-thatching your lawn (gas-powered, core-removal aerators and thatch removal units are available from lawn and garden suppliers or broad-based rental stores).

What Standards To Look For In A Home Inspection?

Confused about home inspection standards and regulations in your state? You're not alone.

(HIT)—As if considerations of location, price and the number of bedrooms were not enough of a challenge for homebuyers, consumers are increasingly demanding quality information when the choosing the professionals who will inspect and represent the less obvious aspects of home buying.

Among a group of a dozen proactive states currently regulating home inspectors, all twelve have adopted formal guidelines that reflect increasing levels of concern among regulators. It makes good sense for homeowners to access these guidelines and become a good deal more informed in the area of standards and regulations.

In Connecticut, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas and Wisconsin, licensing officials have addressed such consumer confidence issues as: (1) written pre-inspection agreements between the inspector and consumer; (2) the number and kind of components to be inspected in an individual residence; (3) actual reporting requirements; and (4) the insurability of inspection process. The result for many informed homeowners will be written agreements establishing in advance the inspector's scope, and a substantially more detailed inspection report which can contribute positively to the prospective homeowner's peace of mind.

Standard Of Care For The Home Inspection Profession

One organization that routinely practices and teaches a code of strict standards is the Home Inspection Institute of America, Inc., headquartered in Wallingford, CT. The Institute's published "Standard Of Care For The Home Inspection Profession" requires, "where accessible, the inspector shall visually inspect and report on the" various components.

According to David Hetzel, founder and president of the 13 year old Institute, "It's not enough for the consumer to just look at things. They need to know, in writing, about the conditions the inspector observed — whether they be good, bad, or whatever."

"Supporting this strict position, favorable professional liability insurance premiums have been available for home inspectors who adhere to the 'Standard Of Care For The Home Inspection Profession' because of the decreased number of claims," says Hetzel.

"The single most important aspect of the consumer-inspector relationship," Hetzel continues, "is the requirement that the inspector provide a pre-inspection agreement spelling out just what the consumer will and will not receive as a result of the inspection. This agreement needs to be executed by both parties before the inspection."

With Internet access you may visit the institute's handy website:

www.inspecthomes.org to view or print your own copy of the "Standard Of Care For The Home Inspection Profession". Links are available for quick access to individual states that offer online regulations for home inspectors.

"Homeowners don't often get a second chance when negotiating the tremendous investments required to purchase and sell today's homes. A little comparison can go a long way in protecting the parties from undisclosed problems resulting from minimal inspection requirements," Hetzel concludes.

The Home Inspection Institute is located at 314 Main Street, Yalesville, CT 06492, phone 1-203-284-2311.

Drywall Offers Big Home Improvement Project Benefits

(HIT)—Drywall is such a fundamental home remodeling and building material that it's often taken for granted. It is versatile, inexpensive and, with a little practice, can be installed easily by do-it-yourselfers in virtually any room.

But perhaps the most remarkable feature about drywall (also called gypsum board or wallboard) is the fact that it has remained almost unchanged since it first became a popular building material in the 1950s.

United States Gypsum, the company that invented drywall in 1917, has pioneered many industry firsts over the years, including the first joint finishing systems and fire-rated products. Drywall contractors also recognize the company's flagship SHEETROCK® Brand Gypsum Panels as providing the best quality and consistency in the industry.

Capitalizing on its heritage of innovation, U.S. Gypsum has recently developed a stronger, easier-to-install drywall panel that delivers better-looking finished results in less time.

These panels can be scored with a knife and snapped into pieces more easily during the cutting process, producing edges that need less sanding and creating a neater look around doors, windows and electrical outlets. The edges also form tighter seams that require the use of less joint compound, creating a smoother surface.

In addition, the board is stronger and more rigid, making it easier to carry and install. Homeowners and contractors alike will find that the panels go up quicker with less labor and fewer wasted pieces. The board's rigid core means panels stay flatter and store easily, so weekend construction warriors can leave them for extended periods of time without worrying about warping.

This technology is incorporated in all of U.S. Gypsum's standard drywall sizes and types. For most remodeling and home improvement jobs, do-it-yourselfers can use either 4- by 8-foot or 4- by 12-foot panels (the smaller panels are lighter and easier to handle). Standard drywall thicknesses are either 1/2 inch or 5/8 inch. Another option is 1/4-inch-thick gypsum panels, which are designed to bend more easily over curved walls.

When installing drywall, here are some basic guidelines to follow:

To score and snap drywall, mark cutting lines on the light-colored face paper with a pencil and straight edge. Using a utility knife, score down the line, through the paper and lightly into the gypsum core. Break the panel core into separate pieces with a quick, firm movement of your hands, which should grasp the drywall edges on both sides of the score line. Then run the knife through the back paper and snap it back-to-face to complete the job.

For the cleanest cut edges, lightly smooth them with sandpaper wrapped around a block of wood. Keep the edge as square as possible. The new panels require minimal edge sanding.

Always install the ceiling panels first, then begin working on the walls. When applying drywall horizontally, fasten the top row of panels first. If necessary, install a filler strip at the bottom of the wall, with the cut edge down, where it will usually be hidden by the baseboard.

Drive screws (the preferred fastener) or nails in straight, not at an angle. Do not countersink the fasteners; the screw or nail head should sit in a shallow dimple without breaking the paper.

New Flowering Perennials Add Pizzazz

(HIT)—There's nothing like new flowering perennials to add "pizzazz" to a tired garden, according to David Salzman, president and chief horticulturist of High Country Gardens.

"Adding new flowering plants each spring gives your garden a fresh and exciting new look," said Salzman. "Flowering perennials not only offer colorful blooms and interesting foliage, but they're less labor intensive because they flower year after year."

To invigorate your garden this spring, add these new perennials from the Spring 2002 High Country Gardens catalog (1-800-925-9387, www.highcountrygardens.com).

Dwarf Silver-leaf Sage (Salvia daghestanica) is an Asian Salvia species that found its way to the United States via a Swedish botanic garden seed exchange. This Salvia and part shade in all soil types except extremely sandy and heavy, wet clay soils. USDA zones 5 to 9.

Grand Mesa Beardtongue (Penstemon mensarum) is a beautiful Penstemon that has proven to be an excellent, long-lived garden perennial. The flowers are an intense cobalt blue, which are set off nicely by the glossy deep-green evergreen leaves. The sturdy 15-inch-tall bloom spikes appear in late spring and last 3-4 weeks, and they will grow more numerous each year. Penstemon mensarum grows easily in any well-drained garden soil in a hot, sunny location, and it is cold hardy in USDA zones 4-8.

High Country Gardens is a nationally recognized source for flowering perennials. To receive a free Spring 2002 catalog call 1-800-925-9387, or view the entire catalog online at www.highcountrygardens.com.

Winchester Hospital

- Replacement and expansion of telemetry equipment throughout the hospital;
- Extensive renovation and expansion of the Breast Care Center in Woburn;
- The replacement and upgrade of the CT (computerized tomography) unit at the Winchester Hospital itself;
- The launching of an outreach program for seniors called "Aging on Your Own Terms";
- Continued a position as being a leader in national inpatient satisfaction in surveys of hospitals;
- Met the financial targets promised to bondholders;
- Achieved a one-third rate adjustment for managed care plans;
- A ranking by the Tufts Health Plan of physicians in the top for quality measures;

• Participation is a successful grass-roots legislative campaign that had the state begin to recognize its free care obligations.

Right now, the Winchester Hospital is in its traditional busiest period, January and February. And, some 45,000 patients were treated in the year 2000 with nearly one-third of these being pediatric care. Some 6,000 patients were admitted the same year and 39,000 "discharged or transferred" to another facility.

According to Lodge, nearly 10% of all patients arrive by ambulance.

Plans for the "preliminary flora plan" for the new emergency room are being circulated and Lodge feels the cost of $17 million factored in all costs. The time for local and state approvals, he said, have all been factored into the ER upgrading.

THE COP AND THE CHAIRMAN. Safety Officer Brian Moon and Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain share a laugh during a ceremony at the public safety building in Wilmington on Friday, March 15. The Wilmington Police Department presented a plaque of appreciation to the Sons of Italy for its $30,000 donation that made it possible for Officer Moon to get a new cruiser. RMLD customer information not released

READING - The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) wants to assure its customers that an Associated Press article about Massachusetts electric companies distributing customer lists to competitive suppliers does not affect them.

The Department of Telecommunications and Energy (DTE) issued a recent order to investor-owned utilities to release customers' private information to competitive suppliers.

"This order applies to private electric companies like N-Star (formerly Boston Edison) and National Grid (formerly Mass Electric) which have been deregulated," said Customer Service Manager Laurie Cavagnaro. "RMLD does not fall under the DTE rules of deregulated electric companies. We are publicly-owned, not investor owned. No customer information lists will be distributed to deregulated companies."

"We will continue to serve our customers in the way that they are accustomed, bringing them reliable service at low rates," Cavagnaro added.

Former WHS student-athlete

Franz Martiz will always be remembered

This article was turned in by Dan Alosco, who graduated from Wilmington High School last spring. Dan played on the boys soccer team along with his friend Franz Martiz, an exchange student who also graduated from WHS in 2001. Martiz passed away due to an automobile accident on February, 15.

Alosco is paying tribute to his friend, while he also wants current high school teenagers to be aware of the dangers of speeding especially with proms upcoming. [Sp. Ed]

Senior year was full of expectations for me. I expected to work hard and graduate, and I did. I expected to get into college, and even though I didn't have the greatest academic year I made it and I am currently attending Northeastern University.

I expected our varsity soccer team to pull together as a team and go to the state tournament, and we did. Even though we lost in the second round, we all learned what it takes to be a team. We all gained something from each other. I expected to be a leader on the tennis team as one of our three captains; for a Cinderella, small town team, the semifinals was something for us to be proud of.

I expected to have one last hurrah with my best friends and enjoy their company until we all went our separate ways. I don't think there is a single freshman in college right now who attended WHS who can't say he or she didn't have some of their greatest memories during senior year.

The thing about our class was everyone got along. Everyone knew each other's name. When someone new came along everyone gave that person a chance and accepted him, or her into our community.

Of all the things I expected out of my senior year, I can't say that gaining a new friend was among the other items on my list of expectations.

I think it was during the second or third day of school that I met Franz Martiz. It was during gym class. We only had a hand full of kids in the class and he stuck out like a sore thumb. His clothes were snug and for some reason I remember his shoes seemed unique; a haircut wouldn't have hurt either. You could tell he had just moved here. He didn't really look out of place; it just looked like he hadn't settled in yet.

So a couple of us struck up a conversation with him. We found out he was not from around here at all. He was from Venezuela! He seemed very friendly and I remember asking him where he was living. He wasn't quite sure, being so new to the area and all. He told us he played soccer. I told him I was on the soccer team and he said he wanted to play. He made some jokes here and there, and right away everyone in our small class was listening to what he had to say.

As it turned out, Franz was staying with his aunt and uncle who lived right down the street from me. He had come to a soccer practice to try out for the team and didn't really know his way home.

From then on in, I figured I should help him out with getting to and from practices. Franz fit in with the soccer team just as he did in gym class. His sense of humor matched our's and he understood our jokes like he had been part of the team since freshman year. He was pretty good too. He was fast, agile, athletic, and he had a pretty good knowledge of the game, not to mention a great foot.

He was a little slow on picking up the faster-paced, more aggressive style of play that we were used to.

In Venezuela he told us they play more like the Europeans; slow and under control, the same type of play the late Dick Scanlon always urged us to play.

Franz and I started hanging out a lot. I used to try speaking Spanish with him, and he would just look at me and laugh. He said I tried hard though. He had a great sense of humor. No matter what was going on, whether you failed a test or your girlfriend just dumped you, two minutes with Franz and you were laughing and forgetting about it as if your problem never happened.

He used to impersonate "Cartman," from the show "South Park." That was a favorite on the soccer team.

Whenever we teased with him he would quote Cartman perfectly. We would just laugh and he'd smile because he knew how funny we all thought he was.

All the girls had a thing for Franz. A day didn't pass without at least one girl coming up to me and asking about him. He had a million dollar smile that went along perfectly with his South American accent.

Even after he left, we would exchange emails or talk online about dates he went on or a girlfriend he had. He was pretty easy to talk to, and for a foreigner he spoke English really well. He was smart, smarter than most actually. He did well in math and history.

Despite having the infamous Mr. Ferguson for Physics, Franz didn't do all that badly in that class either. He liked school. He liked challenges. Franz actually graduated high school in Venezuela before he came there. He thought he could learn more by coming here for an extra year of schooling. I'd say at the very least his English had improved.

Franz started to miss his family once winter and spring rolled around. With soccer gone there wasn't much to keep him occupied.

He missed his family and his friends back home. They were very dear to him. He always told me great stories about going to a vacation spot with his brother and a bunch of friends. He seemed kind of unchallenged in school too. He wanted to go to college.

Spring started to roll around and one day he told me with a big smile that he was going home because he could enroll in college and start school in the spring semester. He told me this with a big smile, and he was excited. I smiled and acted excited for him, and naturally I was.

Inside, however, I felt upset that my friend would be moving away. I knew he felt the same, but we didn't want to talk about it. I was excited for him.

Come spring of senior year everyone wants to move on and go to college. This was his second time around with that feeling.

So Franz packed up his stuff and said good-bye to all of his friends. He made all his girlfriends cry when he told them it was time to part. It was sad, but we all told him we were coming to visit him and he told us he was going to show us what his home was like.

Unfortunately none of us will be able to get a tour of Venezuela from Franz Martiz. On February 15, 2002, Franz was involved in a car accident while he was speeding and tragically he died. He was 18 years old.

Just like his friends and family were dear to him, Franz was very dear to a lot of us. He was an all around good kid and he was an even better friend. He was someone I could trust; someone whose friendship I never doubted, not for one moment. He always made me laugh.

Even now as I sit here writing this with tears in my eyes, I think of his "Cartman voice" and I can still smile and laugh as if he were right here.

I cared very much for Franz. His death was unexpected and perhaps could have been avoided, but accidents happen. For those who knew Franz, you can understand what a loss this is.

For those who didn't know Franz, especially for those new to the road and the feeling of being behind a steering wheel, just try to picture how his family, friends and loved ones feel now that he is no longer with us.

I knew him for only seven or eight months and his friendship is something I cherish. His family knew him his whole life and they have a lot more to miss.

Life is short, but it doesn't have to be short lived. Be cautious and safe behind the wheel of a car. It takes two seconds to put a seatbelt on and it doesn't even take a lot of patience to drive under the speed limit. It takes less than both to make the smallest of mistakes that will affect the lives of so many. Remember that.

I am 19 years old. I have a whole life ahead of me and so do all of you. Franz had his whole life ahead of him and now he can only be remembered and missed.

I hope everyone remembers Franz the way I did. You couldn't ask for a friend like that. They just show up in your gym class one day, and then they go. You never know if you'll see them again but, you'll always remember them and they'll always make you smile.

Descansa en paz mi amigo.

Hard work pays off for JV Cheerleaders

Wilmington High School Junior Varsity competed at the Tiger Invitational held at Newton North High School on Saturday, March 16, 2002.

Over the last few years, the cheerleaders of Wilmington have not only amazed us but made us very proud. These thirteen girls: Sheila Cassidy, Molly Sullivan, Krystie Chapman, Stephanie Lyon, Lyndsey Brown, Pam Bruce, Ashley McGrath, Lyndsay Monteforte, Renee Waitt, Cherisse Gibbons, Nicole Bartlett, Kylee Rodriguez and Amy Sawyer did just that this past weekend.

This group of girls had many obstacles to overcome and did it with heads held high. They had stunts that were not consistent, they learned difficult dances in record time and on Saturday, they pulled it all together. They performed under pressure and did a fantastic job!

The place this team came in, although a terrific second, does not represent what they went through. The fact that they were a mere five points away from first should and does represent where they were and how far they came.

On a more personal note, the coaches would like to thank these girls and their parents for the opportunity to work with them. The coaches are proud beyond words with how much they accomplished and know they will accomplish much more. This was a stepping stone, so use it as such. If you want more, work like you did over the last few weeks and it will be available to you.

Congratulations Wilmington High School Junior Varsity, you girls did fantastic! Thank you to all the parents and friends who travelled to support us. The coaches are sorry you were worried. A special thanks to Lauren Gauthier! Congratulations on a job well done!

Board breaking seminar, March 22nd

The Academy of Traditional Karate is having a board breaking seminar. It is open to the public. Come and see our students and fellow Wilmington, Reading and Tewksbury residents break boards with their bare fists, feet, elbows and maybe even heads!

It is a fun event to watch. Friday, March 22nd at 6:30. Come on - we would love to see you there! For further information call The Academy at 978-658-2077.

Squirt C's continue successful Valley League play

The Wilmington Squirt C's, sponsored by the Wilmington Arena Authority, were very successful in recent Valley League and Dual State games. With the season winding down every point counts when fighting for a play-off position.

Wilmington 2, Reading 1
Although the Squirt C's have had some problems since being bumped up to the Red South Division of the Valley League, many of the games could have gone either way. Four of their last five losses were by one goal each. In their last game, against Tewksbury, they played well enough to win but lost 3-2. Recently, however, at the MVF II their play wasn't up to par and they could have easily lost to 1st place Reading but a strong performance by substitute goalie Zach Rosa helped them hang in there and edge the Rockets 2-1.

Reading controlled the play in the 1st period. The Rockets swarmed around the Wilmington end as Wilmington could not get the puck out of the zone in the first five minutes of play. Rosa made save after save to keep his teammates in the game. It wasn't until 6:24 of the 2nd period that Reading finally got one past the Wilmington goaltender. Reading's Michael Shea stole the puck at his own blue line and wove his way through the neutral zone and into the Wilmington end. His back-hand shot put the Rockets up 1-0.

Before the period ended defenseman Charlie Gendron and Chris Robertson made good plays to keep Reading from adding to their lead. Gendron had one player tied up in front when the puck slipped under the goaltender, heading into the net. Robertson alertly swiped it away before it could cross the line.

Wilmington's offense was sporadic from shift to shift but they finally got on the board at 10:01 of the 3rd period when defenseman Cody Wilkins carried the puck out of his own zone and found an opening in the middle. He skated in and blasted a shot past the Reading goalie to tie the game at 1-1.

Play went back and forth until 2:28 when Sean Keane fired a shot from the right side. Brendan Collins, on the edge of the crease, tipped it in to put Wilmington up 2-1. Reading put the pressure on and pulled their goaltender with 1:30 to go. Wilmington was unable to clear the puck and Rosa was called on to make several big saves. One quick stick save stopped a sure goal heading for the low, left corner. Finally, with about seven seconds left, defenseman Ryan Kennedy was able to dump the puck out of the zone and the Wildcats had beaten the 1st place Rockets for the 3rd time overall this season.

Wilmington 2, Andover 1
Twenty-four hours later the Squirt C's traveled to Hockeystown in Saugus to take on Dual State opponent Andover. Although goals were still difficult to come by, the team played well enough to get by Andover 2-1. Cody Wilkins scored the first one at 6:13 of the 1st period. The big defenseman streaked down the middle and put a shot past the Andover goaltender to make it 1-0.

Andover fought back and their sustained fore-checking gave the Wilmington defense problems as they tried to clear the puck. Goaltender Steve Cadigan made several big stops and smartly covered up the puck to stall Andover's pressure.

It was Wilmington's turn in the 2nd period to pressure Andover and the aggressive work in the corners and along the boards by Eric Parsons and Matt Larfarello created scoring opportunities. Pat Enwright, Sean Keane, and Pat Boudreau also got their chances with hustle and fore-checking. Even with the improved play of the Wildcats, it was Andover, however, who registered the only goal of the period. With a crowd in front of the net a forward jammed it in at 2:15 to tie the game at 1-1.

The 3rd period went back and forth with both teams fighting for that go-ahead goal. Good plays at the points by defensemen Charlie Gendron, Ryan Kennedy, and Chris Robertson kept the puck in the offensive zone. Winger Charles Barbaro used his back-checking skills to break up several Andover plays. Cadigan and his Andover counter-part in net were both challenged and came up with the saves.

Finally, with 4:03 to go in the game, Paul Duffy broke down the left side, moving in deep before back-handing a perfect pass across to Brendan Collins in the middle. Collins' quick shot got through and turned out to be the game winner as Wilmington held on to win it 2-1.

Wilmington 1, Northern Middlesex 1 (suspended)

An early morning Valley League game between the Wildcats and Northern Middlesex was suspended with only seconds to go in the 1st period due to a power outage at Merrimack College. At the time of the blackout the score was tied 1-1. Northern Middlesex scored first at 5:49 on a nice passing play. One minute later, Wilmington came right back as defenseman Ryan Kennedy sent the puck up the middle. Wingers Matt Larfarello and Brendan Collins combined to get it in the zone. Collins moved in and fired it home. The status of when the game will be completed or made up is unknown at this time.

Wilmington 3, Revere 0
That same evening the Squirt C's moved north to Skate 3 where they took on the Revere Squirt B's in a Dual State contest. There was no lack of energy in this one as Wilmington skated to a 3-0 victory.

Although the 1st and 2nd periods were scoreless, the Wildcats out-skated and out-played Revere. The defense crew of Charles Barbaro, Charlie Gendron, Chris Robertson, and Ryan Kennedy all played well, clearing the zone quickly and manning the points in the offensive end superbly. The hustle and fore-checking of the forwards was the best it's been in several games. Pat Enwright, Sean Keane, Eric Parsons, Paul Duffy, Brendan Collins, Matt Larfarello, and Pat Boudreau all displayed determination and their passing game was top notch.

Even though the Wildcats controlled the play throughout, it wasn't until 9:31 of the 3rd period that they finally got on the board. Duffy made a fine pass over to Boudreau in front. Boudreau fired and the goaltender made the save but the rebound came out to Parsons who quickly snapped it into the net for the 1-0 lead. It was Parsons again, at 4:09, who took a pass up the middle from Kennedy and put a low shot past the netminder, making it 2-0.

Back-checking plays by Duffy and Enwright and defensive break-ups by Barbaro and Kennedy kept Revere from getting any offense going. It wasn't until the 3rd period before Revere got a shot and the few that they did get were handled with ease by goaltender Steve Cadigan.

The Revere goalie stole a goal from Boudreau with about a minute to go with a quick glove save. With five seconds left in the game, however, Collins poked in the rebound of an Enwright shot to cap off the scoring at 3-0.

Wilmington 7, Malden 2

Wilmington continued their highly successful Dual State run with a 7-2 decision over the Malden Squirt B's. Leading the way for the Wildcats were Eric Parsons, with a hat trick and an assist and Pat Enwright, with a goal and four assists. Matt Larfarello picked up a goal and two assists. Other scores belonged to Pat Boudreau and Brendan Collins (1 goal and 1 assist). Defensemen Ryan Kennedy and Chris Robertson sparked the offense by working the points well and notching two assists each. Defenseman Charles Barbaro also picked up an assist in the game.

Even though Wilmington played well in the 1st period and had three powerplays, one a two-man advantage, they only took a 2-1 lead into the 2nd period. It was in the middle period that they broke it open with three unanswered goals. Malden, however, didn't back down as they had their scoring opportunities. Early in the period a forward stole a pass at the blue line and broke in. Goaltender Steve Cadigan made the save. Later in the period Cadigan was called on again to make several stops to keep Malden off the board.

Some fine passing highlighted this game. Enwright and Larfarello combined to set up two of Parsons' three goals. Rink wide, point-to-point passing by Robertson and Barbaro set up Collins' tally. Robertson also spotted Boudreau moving through the center and fired the puck in. Boudreau tipped in the rising puck as he was twisting around. In the 3rd period Kennedy moved in deep before threading a pass across to Parsons, setting up one of his goals.

Solid defense played a big part also as Cody Wilkins got back to break up a Malden rush. Back-checking by Enwright and Sean Keane stripped the puck off two Malden offensive plays. Wilkins, Kennedy, Robertson, and Barbaro all played strong in front of Cadigan who made another big stop in the 3rd period and smartly covered the corner as a Malden player tried to stuff in the rebound. The 1st place Wildcats now have a 14-1-1 record in Dual State.

Wilmington 4, Melrose 4

In an exciting, fast-paced Valley League game Wilmington came back from 3-0 and 4-2 deficits to tie the Melrose Squirt B's, 4-4. Hat tricks were contagious this week as twenty-four hours after Eric Parsons registered his trick against Malden, Brendan Collins did it against Melrose. His 3rd goal was a big one as he scored the tying goal with 33 seconds left in the game.

Both teams came out skating but Melrose seemed to have the early edge, fore-checking and attacking the puck carrier. A nice set-up from behind the net resulted in their first goal at 7:03. Quick saves by goalie Steve Cadigan and defensive plays by a back-checking Matt Larfarello and defenseman Charlie Gendron kept Melrose from getting any more in the 1st period.

A deflection of a long shot got past Cadigan early in the 2nd period to make it 2-0. Wilmington had their chances also. A speedy Pat Enwright broke in alone but was robbed on a fantastic save by the Melrose net-minder. Melrose went up 3-0 at 4:34 when the Wildcats were unable to get back in time and a low hard shot got through.

With 25 seconds left in the period and Wilmington on the powerplay, they finally got on the board when Gendron rushed down along the left boards. His beautiful pass across connected with Larfarello in front and he put it in. The momentum carried into the 3rd as one minute into the period, Larfarello and center Paul Duffy broke up a Melrose play and got the puck up to a streaking Collins. Collins moved in and his shot made the score 3-2.

A roughing penalty to Wilmington proved costly. Cadigan had just made an excellent pad save when Melrose moved in again and put a high hard shot into the net at 4:27. The powerplay tally put Melrose up 4-2. The Wildcats came right back on a powerplay of their own when Duffy and Larfarello combined again to find Collins. Collins put a high shot past the goalie to bring his team to within one.

Wilmington wasted no time pulling Cadigan for the extra skater. With hustle and determination the boys in blue put the pressure on Melrose. After a Melrose clear, heading for the open net, was stopped by Gendron Wilmington stormed up ice. It was the Duffy-Larfarello combination once again who set up Collins for his 3rd goal and the equalizer at 0:33. The 4-4 final kept Wilmington in the hunt for a good playoff position in the extremely tight Red South Division.

Squirt D's closing in on playoffs

The countdown is on. With the regular seasons down to their last few weeks, the Wilmington Squirt D hockey team is in the hunt for a playoff spot in the Dual State League and a favorable seed in the Valley League post season rounds. Whether they have the staying power to score big in the final games is the question, but if their play of late is any indicator, the closing weeks should be interesting ones.

Before playing last week's game, the D's were in fourth place in the Dual State League with a record of 5-4-3, just a slim point behind Concord-Carlisle II and two ahead of Chelmsford III. In fact, it was just three weeks ago that Wilmington defeated Chelmsford to leapfrog into the all important fourth place slot - all important because only the top four Dual State teams advance to post season play.

Last week's action saw the D's clip the Nashoba B team 2-1 at Skate 3 to firm up their fourth place position by moving three points ahead of Chelmsford and staying within one of Concord-Carlisle.

A fired up Dominic McCann, backed by his rock steady teammates, paced the D's to their 2-1 win by scoring both goals, one in the second and one in the third, on follow ups in front of Nashoba's net. On the first, the Nashoba goalie pulled his glove off of a saved Jon See shot and McCann jammed it in and on the second Tommy Callahan lent a hand with a pass from the left side that McCann collected and drilled home.

Defensively, Kyle Gaffey contributed with a key block on a one-on-one shortly after Nashoba tied it at one in the first period, while netminder Zach Rosa made 18 excellent saves throughout the game and the Wilmington lines controlled the puck during the final minute of play to lock up the win.

In the Valley League the Cats were similarly perched in the fourth place spot, a mere one point out of third place and two out of second, when they took to the ice in Malden against first place Medford last Saturday. The D's were looking to improve their seed position for the playoffs, but they didn't fare nearly as well as they did on Wednesday against Nashoba.

Despite some nice play busting by Wildcat defenseman Brian Fitzpatrick, 10 saves by Zach Rosa and some clutch penalty killing by Tom Callahan, Bret Kidik, Cole Carter and Alex Williams, the hard nosed Medford squad scored twice in the first period with some nice stick work to put Wilmington in the hole 2-0. The Wildcats struggled mightily in the second period to dig themselves out, only to see the hole get a little deeper when Medford struck again to make it 3-0 at the half way point.

Still not intimidated, Wilmington lashed back later in the second when defenseman Sean Tavares launched an outside shot that bounced to the right side and was knocked in by winger Andrew Flodin to get the D's back in the game 3-1.

In the third period, the D's persisted, with all lines keeping the pressure on Medford and attempting to close the gap. Sean Tavares nicely held the blue line during one Wilmington attack, and Cole Carter did a beautiful job breaking up a slick Medford bid just before they could pull the trigger in front of Wilmington's net. Forwards John Moriarty, Sammy Grant, Brian Coutu and Bret Kidik, together with defenseman Kyle Gaffey, also kept it in high gear to prevent further Medford scores. The valiant effort was not enough, as an open netter by Medford with a few seconds left sealed the loss at 4-1.

Over the next two weeks, Wilmington will face Woburn and Nashoba in Dual State play before getting a crack at third place Concord-Carlisle on March 30. They'll also have showdowns with the second and third place Valley League teams from Haverhill and North Andover later this month.

With those critical games looming, the D's stand poised to determine their fate a week at a time as the long season winds down to a suspenseful finish.

Lakers win Junior League Championship

The Lakers won the Junior League championship by beating a very tough and talented Kings' team. Both of these teams finished the regular season at 11-1 and it was a great game for the parents and friends to watch. The Lakers offense and defense came out very strong in the 1st quarter, scoring 16 points while holding a very strong Kings offense to eight points.

The Lakers' Spencer Bradley had eight points mostly on fast breaks, center John Callahan scored six points with several big baskets from the high post while Michael Ludka and Chris Santos each added a basket. The Kings guards Evan White had a fast break basket, Jeff Quilty with two outside baskets and center Craig Andrews added a basket from the foul line.

The second quarter saw the Kings fight back with some extremely tough defense against a highly explosive Lakers offense to bring the game to within four points (20-16). Kings guard Kevin White who had a great overall game scored four points with great drives to the hoop, while teammates Kevin Giannattasio and Mike Lynch each added a basket. The Lakers points were scored by center Sean Tessicini and guard Michael Fioentino. It was the 3rd quarter of this game where the Lakers once again broke it open by outscoring the Kings 11-4 to increase their lead to eleven points (31-20).

The Kings only baskets came from Evan White and Craig Andrews. The Lakers offense for that quarter was lead by Michael Ludka who had two big baskets from the key and one free throw, Spencer Bradley who also added to two baskets from the outside and John Callahan with a big basket.

In the 4th quarter the Kings scored eleven points with guard Kevin White adding seven points and teammates, Kevin Foley and Mike Lynch each scoring a basket. The Lakers offense answered back with 8 points with Kevin Kapust and Sean Tessicini each scoring 4 points to maintain the lead (39-31) and the championship win. Once again the key to Lakers win was team play and Defense.

The Lakers defense was immense, centers Sean Tessicini and John Callahan held the Kings' high powered centers to only 6 points for the game. John Callahan had one of his best games of the season. He came up big with several big steals and rebounds throughout the game.

The Lakers guards (Sean Hurley, Michael Fioentino, Spencer Bradley and Chris Santos) also had a great game keeping the talented Kings guards from driving the basket and setting up their offense. Also coming up big on defense for the Lakers by shutting down the base line were forwards, Kevin Kapust, Tim Hurley, Michael Ludka and Brian McNaught. Great Job Lakers.

This was great game and effort by the Kings who were very well coached by Brian Foley. His Kings team (Evan White, Jeff Quilty, Craig Andrews, Michael Law, Peter Martell, Tom Pierce, Kevin Giannattasio, Kevin White, John Byrne, Kerin Foley and Mike Lynch) came to play. The coaches and players should be very proud of themselves for a great game.

Clippers d. Friars 68-38
Championship Game:
Clippers 43, Suns 40

The #2 seeded Suns came out red-hot against the #1 seeded Clippers to take a 6-0 lead which got their cheering section revved up and louder than ever. The Clippers caught wind and ran up the next 11 straight points. The teams started playing even up after that with the Clippers holding onto a 12 point lead after three quarters.

Just when it began to look like the regular season champion Clippers were going to pull this game off going away, the lead was cut to eight, then seven.

The Ryan school gym was packed with spectators, cheering for both sides. At times you couldn't hear the whistle blow. Andrew Mastone hit a 3-pointer with less than two minutes remaining, followed by Mike Omalley with another three to cut the lead to one point. The Clippers' Alex Fredrickson was good from the free throw line to get it back to three.

The Suns inbounded the ball with only seconds left on the clock, Eric Restuccia put up a 3 pointer to tie the game but it came down just inches short as the Clippers started the celebration becoming the 2002 Town Champions. Finishing with a record of 14-1, the Clippers had an excellent year.

Offensive standouts for the Clippers were Steve Alves, Derek Aguiar, Charlie Lucia, Bryan O'Keefe, Alex Fredricksen, and Paul Trant. Defensive credits go to Mike Procacini, Connor Flannagan, T.J. Kane, Christopher Hubbard, and Kevin Moran. Clippers coach, Charlie Luccia, gave the Suns a lot of credit for a fine game "playing like champions".

Luccia credited the players parents for their dedication along with his team who played as a team all year long and never gave up even when other teams were playing them hard.

The Suns coach, Ken Miano, gives credit to his team for having so much spirit and teamwork: Mike Willey, Anthony Miano, Rob Cook, Eric Restuccia, Mike Omalley, Brendan Mcelroy, Chris Brennan, Mark Mastone, Andrew Mastone, Tom Fabiano, Dave Mulno and Brian Dunn. Miano also said a thank you to the Tewksbury Board of Directors, parents of the players and to the 3 great coaches that he "had the pleasure to work with this year, Ron Brennan, Frank Willey and Jack Restuccia."

Senior League

Bulls 68 Pacers 58

The Pacers played their hearts out in this game. They built up a 12 point lead in the first half but the bulls came right back. The Bulls hit three treys in the closing minutes to ice the game. Hats off to the Bulls, they are a well coached team and they did what they had to do to win this game. I would like to thank the team for a great year.

They came from 0-13 season last year, to a shot at the championship in the final game. I would like to mention the seniors on the team that are moving on. Dan Johnson, Chris Byrne, Jason Mello, Chad Chartienitz, Eric Taber, Matt Carrigan, and Dave Comoscio great job guys.

A SPECIAL NOTE OF INTEREST

The banquet for the In-Town Senior League Boys Basketball and the 8th Grade Travel Team will be held at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks on Wednesday, April 10th At 6:00 p.m.

Wilmington Mite B's tie North Reading, 2-2

The Wilmington Mite B's met No Reading's Mite A's in Valley league play on Sunday morning at Ristuccia Arena to begin a very busy vacation week.

The Cats came out to score six minutes into the first period with a goal from John Malone assisted by Drew Cummings and Cori Michals, Craig Bernard in net with help from the defensive line of Tom Cushing, Cori Michals, Brian Good and Joe Aucoin stopped No. Reading's attempts at a goal.

The Cats started the second period shorthanded and No. Reading took advantage getting a goal to even the score. The Cats came back again to take the lead on a goal from Jim Stokes assisted by Adam Siegel and Chris Ryan. With a minute left in the period No. Reading tied the game.

The offensive lines of Kevin Moriarty, Scott Deronde, Adam

Martinello, Andy Owens and Dennis Gingras kept the heat on No. Reading's goalie with several shots on net and effectively killing a powerplay to end the game in a tie.

Wilmington 2, Tewksbury 2

February vacation saw a very busy week for the Wilmington Mite B's on Monday morning in the second annual Lockmonsters Tournament against Tewksbury's Mite B's. Tewksbury came out to score first but less than a minute later John Malone assisted by Scott Deronde and some good offensive play from Drew Cummings put the Cats on the board. The Cats played great positional hockey with Adam Siegel, Jim Stokes and Chris Ryan having great attempts on Tewksbury's net.

The second period saw a goal from Tewksbury with five minutes left in the period, to take a one goal lead. Joe Aucoin between the pipes with help from the defensive plays of Cori Michals, Kevin Moriarty, Dennis Gingras, Tommy Cushing and Brian Good shut down Tewksbury's attempts to get over the blue line.

As the third period drew closer to the end, everyone was on the edge of their seats and with three minutes left in the period the Cats worked had with Adam Martinello getting the puck to Andy Owens who set up Craig Bernard out front of Tewksbury's net to give the Cats their second goal to end the game in a tie.

Wilmington 2, Billerica 1

On the second day of the tournament, the Wilmington Mite B's met Billerica's Mite B's. The Cats came out strong with Adam Martinello getting an unassisted goal less than two minutes into the game. A minute later Billerica snuck the puck past Craig Bernard to tie the game, but the Cats weren't done yet, with a pass from John Malone to Scott Deronde again putting the Cats in the lead to end the first period.

The defensive lines of Tom Cushing, Cori Michals, Dennis Gingras, Kevin Moriarty, Brian Good and Joe Aucoin worked magic keeping Billerica from scoring.

The Cats offense kept the heat on Billerica's goalie peppering the net with shots from Adam Siegel, Chris Ryan who along with Jim Stokes, Andy Owens and Drew Cummings did their best to put another goal on the board. The game ended giving the Cats their first win and two more points in the tournament.

Wilmington 4, Acton/Boxboro 2

The Wilmington Mite B's met Acton/Boxboro's Mite Bs Wednesday morning in their third game of the tournament. The period was scoreless as both teams worked hard getting the puck into the offensive zone. With two minutes left in the period Tom Cushing's pass to Jim Stokes with great work from Chris Ryan put the Cats on the board ending the first period with a one goal lead and the fans on the edge of their seats.

Craig Bernard did great in net stopping anything that got past the defense. With five minutes left on the second period Acton/Boxboro got on the board, but the Cats weren't done yet as Dennis Gingras sent a shot off from the blue line to give the Cats their next goal. Acton/Boxboro stared the third period with a goal to again tie the game. The defensive lines of Brian Good, Joe Aucoin, Cori Michals and Tom Cushing shut the doors on Acton/Boxboro. Three minutes later, Dennis Gingras who was on a hot streak this tournament scored again on a nice pass from Scott Deronde.

The offensive lines by Adam Siegel Drew Cummings and John Malone had some attempts on net. Some nice passing from Kevin Moriarty and Adam Martinello helped feed the puck into Acton/

Boxboro's zone. With six seconds left in the game, Dennis Gingras adds an assist to his streak giving Andy Owens the Cats final goal. Sealing the win and a trip to the finals, with a total of five points in the tournament.

Wilmington 5, Tewksbury 1

The Wilmington Mite B's met Tewksbury's Mite B's on Friday afternoon for the championship game. The Cats came out ready to play. Six minutes into the first period a pass from Drew Cummings to Adam Martinello gave the Cats their first goal of the game.

Tewksbury came back to even the score late in the first period ending in a tie. The defensive lines of Cori Michals, Tom Cushing, Brian Good, Joe Aucoin and Kevin Moriarty stopped Tewksbury's attempts to get in the zone.

Eight minutes into the second period Dennis Gingras, assisted by Scott Deronde scored giving the Cats their second goal and the lead. The Cats never looked back. Craig Bernard was unbeatable stopping any shots that got through the defense.

The third period started with the Cats on fire with an unassisted goal by Andy Owens. A minute later, the Cats again scored as Jim Stokes and Chris Ryan passed the puck up the ice to Adam Siegel. The Cats brought home first place on a pass from Scott Deronde to John Malone to end the game on a winning note. The Cats were awarded their first place trophies at the Lockmonster game Saturday night.

Wilmington Mite D's roll to another weekend sweep

The Wilmington Mite "D" express continued to roll on as the boys and girls completed yet another three game weekend sweep.

The action started on Saturday morning with a game against North Andover, a team that has always given Wilmington trouble. North Andover came out on fire and peppered goalie Tyler Stillings with numerous shots. Tyler, as he has done all season, rose to the challenge and played a great game as he kept the Cats in the contest early on.

Mid-way through the first period, Jackie Mulrenan notched his 50th goal of the year as he beat the North Andover goalie with a nice shot. Assisting on the play were Frankie Cerbone and Jon-Luke Dee who both made nice passes to set Jackie up. Jackie did a nice job as he came back from a neck injury sustained the previous weekend.

The game remained a nail biter into the third period as North Andover led 2-1. With just under five minutes to go, Ian Haggerty took a pass from Jon-Luke Dee and banged home the tying goal. North Andover came right back and put tremendous pressure on Stillings and the Cats but they would not break.

With just under three minutes remaining in the contest, Jimmy O'Neill was the last minute hero this game as he used tremendous determination and tucked home the game winner on a pass from Ian Haggerty and the Cats escaped with a 3-2 victory.

The second game of the weekend was played Saturday afternoon against Groton. In the previous two meetings against Groton the games were extremely physical and this game would be no different. One has to question the coaching philosophy of the Groton squad as they allowed their players to consistently attempt to injure Wilmington players. On at least two occasions young Cats were hurt on cheap shots and had to be assisted off the ice.

Despite this chippy style of play, the Cats would not be intimidated and proceeded to play their solid brand of team hockey. Jimmy O'Neill started the Cats off as he used his good speed and scored off of a nice pass by Daniel Keene. Groton came right back however and scored to tie the game 1-1. Nick Pino then got into the act as he moved in from his defensive position, made a nice move to get around the defense, and scored on a low shot for the second goal. Once again however, Groton hung around, scored, and the game remained tied.

The see-saw affair continued as the teams skated up and down the ice looking for opportunities to pull ahead. Finally Ian Haggerty lit the lamp for the Cats to start the third and give the Cats a tenuous lead. Ian was assisted by Cam Owens and JT Lynch on the play. Groton once again came storming back and tied the game late in the third.

As with the previous few weeks the question was, "Who will be the last minute hero this game?"

Jimmy O'Neill pulled it off in the morning game, could the Cats do it again? As they have done all year, these kids never quit and with about a minute-and-a-half left in the game, Tommy See rose to the challenge and popped in a nice goal through a lot of traffic to put the Cats up for good and seal the 4-3 victory. Tommy was assisted on the play by Tommy Shafer and Nick Luise who used good hustle to keep the play alive.

The final game of the weekend was played on Sunday morning against rival Tewksbury. These two teams have met numerous times over the past few months and the games are always close and exciting. This game would prove no different as both teams came out flying. Tewksbury plays a swarming defensive style and they are backed by one of the better goalies in the division. The Cats have always had difficulty solving the young lady's style and the contests are usually low scoring affairs.

Tewksbury got on the board first and it looked as though the 1-0 lead could be enough for them as they smothered Wilmington. Late in the first period however, Tewksbury was charged with a tripping penalty and Wilmington went on the power play. Ian Haggerty on left wing passed it up to Cameron Owens through center ice. Cameron dished it to a streaking JT Lynch on right wing who was uncovered as a result of the penalty. JT skated in on goal and placed a hard wrist shot over the glove hand of the outstanding Tewksbury goalie to tie the game.

The game continued at a furious pace as both teams were looking for scoring opportunities. Tewksbury would press the attack and then Wilmington would storm right back. Both goaltenders were brilliant as they turned away all shots. Wilmington defensemen Meaghan Souza, Nick Luise, Steven Taylor and Jimmy O'Neill did a great job in front of goalie Tyler Stillings. At forward, Daniel Dighton, Frankie Cerbone, Jon-Luke Dee and Nick Pino played a strong game.

The game was winding down and the Cats were in the middle of a line change as Frankie Cerbone passed to Ian Haggerty. Ian slid the puck to Jackie Mulrenan at the left circle who casually flipped the puck about twenty feet into the air and towards the Tewksbury net. The puck somehow came down behind the stunned goalie and bounced into the net for the 2-1 lead and eventual game winner as the Cats held on to seal the victory and another weekend sweep.

New England Jaguar hockey team offers tryouts

New England Jaguars Club hockey team has announced tryouts for spring and fall season 2002/2003. The team will consist of players born with 1988/1989 birth dates.

Tewksbury Mite III's take another bronze medal

The Tewksbury Mite III's, sponsored by J.J. Phelan and Sons, are looking for a little down time after seven games in nine days. Mike Golini's hat trick with one second left, a tie for the bronze in the Hallenborg Tourney, pulling our goalie for a Scotty Middleton buzzer beater and Kerri Stuart turning away a penalty shot highlighted the past few games.

The offense lit up Agawam II to the tune of seven goals. Mike D'Agostino (although the game sheet said Brad Perry) hit Mike Golini at center ice. Mike led a 3 on 2 and buried a long shot. Brad Perry (this time the sheet said Erik Monti) carried the puck up ice and sent Mike Golini in alone for his second of the game. Kyle Murphy stole the puck at center ice, walked around two defensemen and lifted one in (somehow Ryan Casey and Neil Dave assisted). Michelle Tully sent Scotty Middleton away on a 3 on 1 with Kyle Murphy and Patrick Doherty. Scotty drew the D then hit Kyle for the goal as Patrick crashed the net for any rebound. Erik Monti cleaned up as he trailed a Golini / Middleton 2 on 1.

Somewhere in there Kerri Stuart made a beautiful glove save and calmly handed the puck to the referee. Agawam tried to battle back, eventually pulling their goalie and giving John Digorgio an empty netter (from Brad Perry). Agawam put their goalie back in, and that's when Erik Monti sent Mike Golini in alone for the hat trick with just one second left on the clock.

Against Groton II, it was two more goals for Kyle Murphy. Both Kyle's goals were assisted by defensemen (Brad Perry and Mike D'Agostino) pinching in. Tewksbury opened the Hallenborg Tournament against a tough Billerica III team. Tewksbury was all over them for most of the first period, but the "big Mo" shifted and we lost 5-0.

Next up was a defensive battle with Woburn III. Michelle Tully executed our "free play" beautifully to get the puck deep in their end and Kyle Murphy buried a longshot under their stingy goalie (assisted by Brad Perry). A questionable Woburn goal as a forward drove Kerri Stuart and the puck into the net and a waved off Scott Middleton goal were the difference as we dropped this one 2-1.

In a preview of the Bronze medal game, we took on Groton III next. They caught the Redmen snoozin' and took the opening face off in for a score just 11 seconds into the game. Neil Dave answered back with a one timer off an Erik Monti pass from the corner. Neil Dave netted his second as he crashed the net to jam in a Mike Golini rebound. Kyle Murphy sent Ryan Casey in alone to rocket one past the goalie. Scotty Middleton trailed a nice Casey / Pettit 2 on 1 to jam in the rebound.

Cam Ahearn hit John Degeorgio in stride and John fired in bullet from the face off dot. Cam then hit Scott Middleton at center ice. Scotty turned the remaining defenseman inside out at the blue line to walk in alone.

Tewksbury faced Groton III again the next day, it looked like the Bronze was "in the bag". On any given day, anything can happen. Groton took an early 2-0 lead - plenty of time left. Johnny Degeorgio rings an Adam Degregorio pass off the far post - not our lucky day. Tewksbury cranked it up to a notch as Neil Dave jams in a Mike Golini rebound - here we go. But Groton answers back to go up 3-1 with 5 minutes left.

With 1:54 left, Mike Golini jams in a Neil Dave rebound and Tewksbury was back in it. With 1:35 to go the Redmen pulled Kerri for the extra attacker and on the ensuing face-off Kyle Murphy found Scotty Middleton at the far post. The goalie dives across in desperation as Scotty calmly roofs the game tying goal at the 1:07 mark to grab another bronze.

Returning to regular league play, we dropped a heart breaker to the Wilmington IV team. Mike D'Agostino skated the puck out of Tewksbury's end to send Mike Golini in alone. Golini followed up on his own rebound to score. Wilmington tied it up with a nice powerplay goal. Then came the most exciting play in hockey - the penalty shot. Kerri Stuart faced her first and came out on top (with a nice butterfly).

What proved to be the game winner was a fluke shot from the slot that went straight up and dropped straight down through a 6 inch space between Kerri and the crossbar (touching neither). Tewksbury pulled its goalie in the final minute, but couldn't get the equalizer (even with Scotty out there).

Mite A's compete in tourney

This past week, the Tewksbury Mite A hockey team, sponsored by Putnam Mortgage Corp., competed in two league games and the 22nd Annual Hallenborg Mite Tournament (March 12-17), compiling a 4-2 record. The Redmen finished third in the tournament.

In the first game, Tewksbury got out hustled by Billerica and lost 4-1. Brad Tosto (from Robert Pruyne and Jonathan Choroszy) scored the loan goal.

In tournament game number 2, Tewksbury blew a 2-0 lead late in the third period against Woburn and lost 3-2. Allison Frazier (from Jonathan Choroszy and Kyle O'Brien) and Jonathan Choroszy (from Ryan Doherty) scored for the Redmen.

Tewksbury took their frustrations out on an undermanned Burlington squad in the third game, crushing them by an 11-0 margin. Goal scorers included Robert Pruyne and Ryan Doherty with three each, Jonathan Choroszy with two, and Allison Frazier, Erik Kelly and Kyle O'Brien with one apiece. Credited with assists were Kevin Poulin, Jonathan Choroszy, and Sean MacLeod with two each, and Robert Pruyne, Kyle O'Brien, Colin Walsh, and Erik Kelly with one apiece.

The Redmen were matched again with Burlington in the consolation game. Tewksbury hammered them 9-4. Kyle O'Brien and Allison Frazier scored twice each, and Jonathan Choroszy, Erik Kelly, Anthony Arcari, Robert Pruyne and Sean MacLeod each scored once. Credited with assists were Erik Kelly with four (Playmaker), Kyle O'Brien with three (Playmaker), Kevin Poulin, Sean MacLeod and Colin Walsh with two each, and Anthony Arcari with one.

Squirt V's coming on strong lately

The Tewksbury Squirt V Redmen sponsored by Ira Chrysler/Jeep of Tewksbury has been coming on strong as the season closes, beating Beverly 6-1, tying Reading 1-1 and tying Groton 4-2-2 before bowing to a tough Haverhill team 4-2.

Beverly jumped on the board early scoring two quick goals in the first period. At 9:33 of the first, Kaleigh Gorman scored from the slot, assisted on a beautiful pass from Allison Noyes to make it 2-1 Beverly. The Redmen weren't done as Joe Samson intercepted a Beverly pass and went in alone to beat the goalie and tie the score at 2-2.

The second period opened with Gina Glavin breaking up a Beverly forward and lifting one past the goalie for the eventual game winner. That is when Tyler Bulger took over. Brendan Kieran stopped a clearing pass at the blue line and fired it on net. Tyler scrambled for the puck and drilled one by the goalie at 4:14 of the second for his first of three on the day.

Minute scored just about a minute later when he took a pass over the middle from Mike Walsh and beat the goalie far corner for a 5-2 Redmen lead. In the third, Tyler scored once more at 3:20 when Joe Samson hit him with a nice pass up the middle and Tyler was off to the races, drilling one by the goalie for a 6-2 Tewksbury win.

Against Reading, the game was a ferocious defensive battle as goalie Steve Noble, defenseman Steve Sheehan, Nick Ashley, Josh Kennedy and Brendan Kieran did a great job of keeping the puck out of the net. The Redmen got awesome back checking from Frankie Chiara, Mike Marshall, and Justin Gibson, who made it difficult for Reading to mount any offense.

Reading managed to score in the second period and things did not look good but Gina Glavin intercepted a pass and put a quick shot by the Reading goalie, tying the score at 1-1.

The Redmen turned up their defense another notch against a tough Groton 4 team at Skate 3 as Groton jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead in the first. Little by little the Redmen snuck back into the game as the fore checking of Tyler Bulger, Joe Samson and Mike Marshall took some of the wind out of the Groton offense. Steve Noble was once again big in goal, coming up with some huge saves and the defense of Brendan Kieran, Steve Sheehan, Nick Ashley and Josh Kennedy were denying good chances in their zone.

At 8:02 of the second period, Mike Walsh scored the first Redmen goal, assisted by Gina Glavin. With 3:42 left in the period, Gina scored her own goal, a bullet of a shot by the goalie after taking an amazing pass out front from Allison Noyes from the corner. Mike Walsh also picked up an assist on the play, keeping the puck in the zone and forcing the play. The third period was all defense and Kaleigh Gorman, Justin Gibson, and Frankie Chiara did a great job of back checking and keeping Groton from getting fast breaks. Great game, 2-2, fantastic comeback.

The Redmen took on a tough Haverhill team Sunday night at the Janus rink and almost came up with a tie but ended up losing 4-2 as Haverhill hit an open netter with a thirty seconds left in the game. Haverhill scored two in the first before Tewksbury finally scored, Tyler Bulger taking a pass from Allison Noyes and Gina Glavin and rocketing one by the Haverhill goalie to make it 2-1.

Haverhill scored again to make it 3-1 but Mike Walsh scored with a minute left to make it a game, 3-2. Assists went to Tyler Bulger and Joe Samson on the play. The Redmen pulled their goalie but couldn't keep the puck down the Haverhill end and a Haverhill forward hit the open net from center ice.

The Redmen got a great game from the entire team as Steve Noble was outstanding in net, and the defense of Nick Ashley, Brendan Kieran, Josh Kennedy and Steve Sheehan were magnificent in their end. The Redmen got great aggressive offensive play from its forwards Mike Walsh, Tyler Bulger, Gina Glavin and Allison Noyes, while forwards Mike Marshall, Justin Gibson, and Frankie Chiara were incredible, chasing down Haverhill attackers and taking away good scoring opportunities.

Pee Wee III's soar high against Falcons

The Tewksbury PeeWee III Redmen were busy this past week, as they march towards the playoffs. First up was Danvers at the Valley Forum II in Malden on Tuesday night.

The opening period saw the Red, White and Blue machine come out strong with great pressure by forwards Joe Bucci, Brian Kapust, Kevin Aguiar, Stephen Dame, Neil Marino and Rollie Jenkins. Hard hitting defense was being provided by Steven Gatti, Danny Boyle, Brett Little and Chris Di Iorio. Redmen goalie Matt Crowley was unbeatable as Danvers tried throwing everything they had at him. Just past the four minute mark, Gatti took a slapshot from the left point that Matt Donahue was in position to tip past the goalie.

The Tewksbury defense, along with Mr. Crowley, turned Danvers away for entire second period. The Tewksbury offense was not silent though, as the line of Billy Medugno, Derek Murphy and Matt Donahue were still banging away. At 10:47, Donahue popped in a Murphy rebound to put Tewksbury up by two, with Murph and Medugno getting the assists. Just before the buzzer, Rockin' Rollie Jenkins laid down some sweet moves ending with him slipping one in far side for a 3-0 lead.

In the third period, Danvers tried to mount a comeback, as they took advantage of a tired redmen defense and managed to get goals at 1:42 and again at 9:17. Tewksbury hung tight and cranked it up to take home a 3-2 win.

On Friday night, Tewksbury faced the first place team from Manchester Regional (MRYHA), in Dual State action at Skate 3 Tyngsboro. Tewksbury dominated the opening period with shots and the physical game. Myrha took the lead when they managed a shot off of Crowley's shoulder that caught the crossbar and dropped in. Tewksbury hung tough and came back in the second period when Chris Di Iorio passed from behind the net to Rollie Jenkins in front.

One wrist shot later it was all tied up. Tewksbury's offense kept the pressure on as the "D" combined with Crowley to break them off. With one and a half minutes left, Myrha caught a break and got one by Matt. Tewksbury ended on the low side of the scoreboard, 2-1.

In Valley League play, Tewksbury took on the first place team from Masconomet Regional. This St. Patrick's Day game was a big one, as this was the second 1st place team of the weekend that the Redmen faced. Tewksbury went in the hole early as Masco jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first three and a half minutes. Defenseman Brett Little went down in the Middle period after taking a stick to the back of the neck. This left Tewksbury with only three men on defense until Little returned later in the game.

At 3:19 of the second period, Tewksbury showed their fortitude as they started a comeback. Kevin Aguiar drove in from the left and passed off to Billy Medugno on the right, with half the net to shoot at, Medugno put it home. Masco scored again five minutes later to regain the two point lead. Tewksbury was not dead yet as Aguiar let one rip just before the buzzer that Medugno tipped in, cutting the lead to one.

The Redmen were not ready to pack it in yet. They started to take the Masco players off the puck at every chance. Using the body and some smart poke work, the Masco players were totally frustrated. When they did get through,

Crowley and the defensemen were ready. Kapust, Marino, Jenkins, Bucci, Murphy and Donahue kept up the heat at the net, while Little, Gatti, Di Iorio and Boyle worked the blueline. The never say die Redmen tied up the Division leading Masco with five minutes left when Kevin Aguiar finished a Joe Bucci play, making it 3-3 for the final.

Wilmington Mite C's continue to play good hockey

The Wilmington Mite C's played three games last weekend. One Dual State and two Valley League contests.

The first game Saturday was a Dual State game against Acton-Boxboro. The Wildcats won 5-0.

John Langenfeld, goalie for the weekend, got a shutout. He stopped everything he faced.

The defense had two sets; Brett Meuse with Matt Dee and Connor Brennan (three assists) with Frankie Mearls. They did a great job limiting the shots on net to five.

Line one had John Hughson (one goal, one assist), Sara Alonardo (one goal, one assist) and Kelly Brandano (one goal and one assist) playing together. They were the big line for the game and kept pressure on the goalie. Domenic Dirupo, David Sugrue (one goal) and Justin Ferreira had a number of shots on net.

Tyler MacInnis (one assist), Daniel Creedon (one goal) and Patrick Magliano (one assist) were skating hard and putting shots on the goalie. The Wildcats had 26 shots on net.

Later on Saturday the Wildcats played the first of two Valley League games against New Hampshire East. The Wildcats won 5-3.

John Langenfeld, in net for his second game of the weekend, did a great job. He made a number of big saves. He stopped 10 of 13 shots on net.

The defense had the same two pair as the earlier game. Connor (one assist) with Frankie and Brett (one assist) with Matt. They did a good job covering the N.H. East players. The Wildcats had to watch N.H. East players who tend to have a player hang behind the defense.

The offense had the same three lines with the players just switching positions on the same line. Domenic and David each had an assist and Justin had a goal. This line works hard and is fun to watch. Tyler (one assist), Daniel (one goal) and Patrick have been skating hard and making some nice passes.

The third line put three goals on the board, for the second time that day, each person scored a goal. John H. had a goal and an assist, Sara and Kelly each had a goal. They haven't been playing together long but work well together. If the puck is near the net they are relentless.

On Sunday Wilmington played N.H. East in a rematch. I think the kids figured they could win and didn't come ready to play. N.H. East scored the first three goals in the game. Wilmington came back and scored the next two goals but couldn't get the tying goal and lost 3-2.

The Wildcats put 24 shots on N.H.'s net while allowing only 14 on our net. Most of their shots were in the first period.

John Langenfeld was in net. He made some awesome saves or Wilmington would have lost by a bigger margin. When Wilmington started playing the way they can they took control of the game. A hockey game is three periods long and you have to play all of them. There are no short cuts.

All the lines remained the same, again just switching positions on the same line. Scoring for Wilmington were David Sugrue and Patrick Magliano with Tyler MacInnis getting two assists.

It was another good weekend for the Mite C team. The C team, sponsored by Phoenix Foods, has been playing well together. The C team would like to send get well wishes to Brendan Munro. We hope for a quick recovery, you are needed on the ice.

STEPHEN PREVOST has announced his candidacy for Town Clerk of Tewksbury. A five year resident, Steve lives with his wife, Rita, and their three children, Matthew, Emily, and Rachel. Emergency Medical Services to Study Early Treatment for Heart Failure Victims

The North Suburban Emergency Medical Consortium (comprised of the Lahey Clinic, Winchester Hospital, St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, Armstrong Ambulance, and Action Ambulance) is about to begin a study of the use of a high-pressure oxygen delivery mask for treatment of congestive heart failure and pulmonary edema.

The Continuous Positive Airway Pressure mask ("CPAP") is the standard of care within the hospital, but it is not always used by ambulance personnel in the field. Anecdotal evidence suggests that patients who are treated with CPAP prior to arrival in the emergency room have improved outcomes and can sometimes avoid the need for a tracheal tube to assist with breathing. The goal of the study is to verify this anecdotal evidence and, ultimately, to improve outcomes for victims of congestive heart failure.

Heart failure occurs when a patient's heart is diseased and unable to efficiently maintain circulation throughout the body, resulting in the buildup of fluid in the lungs and sometimes the legs. There are many options for treating this condition, including oxygen and several medications. CPAP, which is the newer of these methods, works by delivering oxygen to the lungs at a high pressure, forcing fluid back into circulation making it easier for patients to breathe. "The consortium elected to undertake this study in hopes of verifying that early treatment with CPAP can improve patient outcomes," said Dr. Michael Erdos, Medical Director of the Consortium. "We also hope to identify a way of avoiding intubation, which can be frightening to the conscious patient and can also increase the risk of infection."

The risks associated with CPAP are minimal, but include capillary crush and hypotension which occur at high pressures. The pressures in this study are low.

All other treatment modalities will be used as before according to established protocols. If CPAP is the selected treatment modality, paramedics will begin using it either in the patient's home or in the ambulance. Since patients in an emergency medical situation are frequently unable to consent to any type of treatment, it is unlikely that the paramedics will have the opportunity to explain this study and whether CPAP or another modality will be used. Therefore, in accordance with federal law, the Consortium is publishing this announcement to notify the communities in which the study will take place of this effort.

The study will start this month (March). Should you have further questions, please contact the Lahey Clinic Research Office at 781-744-8027 or Dr. Erdos at 781-744-8110. M20/2624

Stoneham's Beth Anne Bowers

...urban archaeologist

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Although she comes from the Greater Philadelphia area, Historical Archaeologist Beth Anne Bowers of Stoneham has the ability to bring the historical aspects of Boston to life and make them accessible.

"I like researching history and making it accessible," Bowers said as she prepared to show off her latest project, the John Joseph "Joe" Moakley Exhibit at Suffolk Law School's Adams Gallery. "I try to highlight it so that people understand the complexities of the time or the person."

Reaching that goal can mean many hours, even weeks of work. According to Bowers, the work is "...one of those things you immerse yourself in."

In the case of the Moakley exhibit there were over 30 boxes of material that Bowers had to go through. These included some 3,000 photos, an estimated 100 linear feet of papers, and 230 objects. All of which had to be sorted out, logged and a decision made as what was relevant to the theme of the exhibit.

According to Bowers, the theme of the exhibit became self-evident once she came across a quotation from Moakley that she was able to break into phrases describing the different phases of his life.

The quote reads: "Of the many lessons I've learned in the course of my life, the four I value most are those that I learned as a child: Never forget where you came from; people form their opinions of life through their kitchen window; loyalty is the holiest good in the human heart; and, do unto others as you would have them do unto you. If you look to life with perspective, it's much easier to see the differences between right and wrong."

As a result of the many hours of work, Bowers was able to come up with an exhibit that ranges from such minute items as photographs of his childhood and paraphernalia from his early campaigns to major pieces such as the sign from his law office, shovels from ground-breakings he participated in, and the desk that he used in his congressional office.

The research also included interviews with surviving family members, friends and colleagues.

Daffodils sales help to eradicate cancer

An estimated 1.3 million Americans were diagnosed with cancer this past year. 31,300 of those people were Massachusetts residents. Cancer does not discriminate. It has touched everyone's life at one time or another, bringing with it the questions, concerns and the intense desire for hope.

It is in this capacity that the American Cancer Society is an invaluable resource, not only providing information and services to cancer patients and their families, but giving hope and help to those who need it most.

Each year in March, the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days provides a wonderful opportunity for local residents to lend a helping hand in the fight against cancer. Through the sale of beautiful, fresh daffodils, volunteers help keep vital American Cancer Society resources in place for our communities. Your contribution will make a difference in so many ways:

•When the challenges of cancer treatment are compounded by a lack of transportation, the American Cancer Society's Road to Recovery program provides rides to cancer treatments. And when patients need to temporarily relocate for those treatments, Hope Lodges provide a home away from home for patients and their family members.

•When a woman's cancer treatment results in hair loss and other changes in her appearance, the American Cancer Society's Look Good...Feel Better program teaches her beauty techniques to enhance her appearance during treatment. For women newly diagnosed with breast cancer, Reach to Recovery provides support from trained volunteers, who are themselves breast cancer survivors. American Cancer Society volunteers offer information and encouragement to help patients coping with all cancer diagnoses, treatments, and recovery experiences.

•The American Cancer Society's toll-free cancer information line, 1-800-ACS-2345 and

Students who are pursuing these majors are eligible to apply from the towns contiguous to Reading and Wakefield, as it was like-minded thespians from towns Reading and Wakefield who began QP in 1937. This includes students.

Birds of a feather, health benefits, business and pleasure

Up for communication in Woburn

"The Woburn Residents Environmental Network (WREN) would like to work more closely with the Woburn Conservation Commission and has made a request to open the lines of communication," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"At its meeting, Conservation Commission member John Tancredi said he attended a WREN meeting, along with Conservation Commission Chair Thomas Brady and member Craig Gatchell, and said he would file a formal report outlining the specifics from the meeting."

"In general, Tancredi said the meeting 'went well.'"

"At the previous Conservation Commission meeting, the board received a request from WREN members asking if the ConCom might be able to send a representative to their periodic meetings to help kick around ideas on various projects."

"Tancredi volunteered to serve as liaison."

"Are they looking for ideas or do they want to give us ideas? Member Richard Cutts asked."

"Both," Concom Chair Thomas Brady replied."

"The lines of communications can work both ways. If WREN has an idea for project, say at Horn Pond, the Conservation Commission can offer ways to do the work with the necessary protections in place so as not to disturb the wetlands...."

Castleberry Faire this weekend in Wilmington

The crafters are back in a big way for the seventh annual Spring Castleberry Faire! Taking place at the Shriner's Auditorium in Wilmington, MA on Friday March 22 through Sunday March 24, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Over 200 Juried Craftsmen and women from throughout the United States will display and sell their work including, pottery, scarves, tapestry, fine jewelry, quilts, baskets, photography, slate, metal sculpture, soap, wall hangings, appliques, folk toys, soft sculpture, leather, oils paintings, calligraphy, silk & dried floral arrangements, water colors, stained glass, country wood crafts, music boxes, quilt-pillows, and so much more.

All exhibitors have been juried by entering slides, photos or samples of their work. Accepted applicants are chosen for workmanship, uniqueness, category, style and display.

Only the very best quality crafts are admitted into this event.

Admission is $4.00 Adult, under 14 are admitted free. Hourly door prizes of fine crafts. For more information call (601) 755-2166 or print a discount admission coupon at www.castleberryfaire.com.

Gray matters in Wakefield

"The Board of Health welcomed their newly appointed Health Agent Peter J. Gray," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Peter is a graduate of Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Public Health and Public Education."

"Gray received his diploma in Nursing from Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing and became a Registered Nurse in 1996. He also passed a series of questions and interviews from the Board and was selected from the pool of qualified candidates."

"This was his first official meeting with the Board and he began his regular activities as Health Agent on Monday, January 28, 2002."

"In other matters, the Board heard from Jack Karvelas of 51 Bennett Street who spoke in favor of the Patients Bill of Rights and the Whistle Blower Laws designed to aid health care workers report and divulge information of improprieties within the hospital community...."

Ripe for ideas in Stoneham

"Stoneham leaders began rejuvenated by the information and advice showered upon them at the Mass Municipal Association convention," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The Town of Easton pays employees $100 for cost saving ideas. They've saved $250,000 so far this (fiscal) year," said Stoneham Selectmen Chairman Tony Kennedy."

"The MMA mixes business with pleasure to educate the managers and boards of the 351 Massachusetts cities and towns about municipal government. More than 600 members stayed at the Sheraton Boston and attended a sampling of 27 workshops on subjects ranging from capital planning to managing health-care costs to increasing town meeting attendance."

"Not every community is a member, but the turnout is usually more than 500 people. Member communities pay annual dues - $5,000 for Stoneham - based on the population and wealth of the city or town. These dues pay for the conference as well as funding the MMA's full-time lobbying and research efforts."

"First-year Selectmen Mary Pecoraro enjoyed her first trip to the conference. She was most impressed by the capital planning workshop presented by Arlington Capital Planning Committee Chairman Charles Foskett."

"We have plans, but do the people know them?" Pecoraro asked. In Arlington a committee oversees capital planning and publicizes when the city will need what."

"Pecoraro also attended a Chapter 70 workshop with Kennedy and members of the Finance Board...."

Bowers

From S-1

During this phase of the research, Bowers was surprised to find that, although, each person was interviewed separately, his or her comments were very consistent.

"There was no ambiguity on where he stood or what he stood for," Bowers said. "Moakley was someone who was not afraid to tell people where he stood and stand by it. He was not afraid to take unpopular stands."

As an example, Bowers notes Moakley's stand on the busing issue which tore apart his hometown of South Boston. Moakley was against the forced busing that was declared to integrate the Boston School System. However, the constituents he represented, who were also against the use of busses to transport their children out of their district did not think he was protesting strongly enough and others for the issue, which allowed children from the minority districts access to better schools, did not like his anti-busing stance.

This issue that is still alive today as entries in the guest book show. Bowers noted that many people are using the hospitality book as a way to write personal notes on the issue as if they were writing to Moakley today.

"That tells you how real he is to people," Bowers said.

Moakley was known in his Ninth Congressional District for holding office hours in the post offices throughout every town in the district. During one of these sessions, El Salvadoran refugees seeking asylum in his district approached him. After hearing their tale of the terror and torture they faced if they were forced to return to their homeland Moakley embraced the issue which is credited with transforming him from a politician to a statesman. He was able to cosponsor the Moakley-DeConcini Bill, which would grant temporary protected status to El Salvadorans living in this country.

Moakley became an expert on El Salvadoran affairs as well as on Cuban relations with the United States.

The exhibit also shows Moakley's involvement with local issues such as the Central Artery/Third Harbor Tunnel project, the clean up of Boston Harbor and the integration of the Boston Harbor Islands in the National Park System.

Ironically Moakley was also involved in the restoration of the African-American Meeting House. This along with the Central Artery is what kept Bowers in Boston after she received her graduate degree.

Bowers grew up in Philadelphia but her grandparents had lived in the Worcester area. She returned to Boston to attend college at Simmons where she received her Bachelor of Arts in History.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What NBA player scored 225 points in an eight-day time span? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

READING'S CHRIS CONDON, a freshmen member of the Colby-Sawyer

She did not go far from the area for her graduate work receiving her Masters in Anthropology from Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island.

She came back to Boston to work as an archaeologist on the African American Meeting House project and then went to work as the archaeologist on the "Big Dig" project.

"I like the combination of historical research and analyzing things," Bowers said of her work.

Prior to its present use as a museum, the African American Meeting House was used as a synagogue. However, the archaeological dig also showed that it had been the residence for a caterer in earlier times.

Her work at the Big Dig was as overseer of the archaeological phase of the project. Bowers noted that because of earlier construction projects that had taken place much of the historical artifacts of the 19th Century were taken away and the project reached right into the 18th Century. However, her crews were able to come up with four really good sites that gave up artifacts such as shoes, books, clothing and even bowling balls from the 17th Century.

Another find included a prehistoric site on Spectacle Island in Boston Harbor. Bowers is now a consultant with Suffolk University as a marketer for the Adams Gallery, which will house the Moakley exhibit until April 7. The plans call for it to become a traveling exhibit at that time and then it will eventually find its way to the John J. Moakley Federal Courthouse on Fan Pier.

According to Bowers, the Adams Gallery will start prepa-

College men's basketball team, hit two three pointers back-to-back and finished with 10 points in a recent game against Rivier.

READING WOMEN'S SPORTS will hold a sign-up Saturday, April 13 at the Reading Public Library from 10 am to noon for a recreational women's softball league. All women over 21 are welcome to participate. Games will be played Sunday afternoons. For more information call Liz at 781-942-2866.

Winchester Hospital

Breast center renovations

A newly expanded facility, enhanced programs and services, and leading edge technology are but a few of the hallmarks of Winchester Hospital's breast Care Center, located in Woburn. The Center, which has been located in Woburn for the past several years, recently underwent extensive renovations. For the past several years, Winchester Hospital has provided some breast care services at Baldwin Park II in Woburn, with other services being provided at Winchester Hospital or in other locations. In addition to the recent renovation project that nearly doubled the size of the center, a number of key services were removed into the Center.

The end result is a more convenient and technically superior facility - a major benefit for patients. Key services are now located in the same area which will reduce the time a patient waits between having a test and getting the results and, if needed, a referral to another physician.

To introduce the "new" Center to the community, an open house is planned for Saturday, March 23, from 10:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. The public will be able to tour the new center, meet physicians and staff, and learn about the many services the Center provides. There will also be refreshments, give aways, and informational handouts. Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute will also be on hand to offer free health screenings and demonstrations. All who attend will be entered into a raffle to win great prizes.

The open house is free of charge and open to the community. Winchester Hospital's Breast Care Center is located at Baldwin Park II (7 Alfred Street) in Woburn, at the junction of Route 128 (off exit 35) and Route 38.

For further information, please call the Center at 781 756-2308 or visit www.winchesterhospital.org.

Births

MR. AND MRS. KEVIN R. RICHARD (SHARON PERRY) of Windham, NH are pleased to announce the birth of their daughter, Corinne Elise Richard, on March 3, 2002 at the Winchester Hospital. She joins her sister, Meredith Marguerite, 21 months.

Grandparent honors are extended to Linda Perry of Reading; Steve Perry of Georgetown, Maine; Joan Richard of Norfolk; and Joseph Richard of Wakefield. Great grandparent honors are extended to Joan Perry of Reading; and Leo and Marie Richard of Stoneham.

MARK D. AND JULIE A. (BEAIRSTO) SEGALLA announce the birth of their son

Deborah Dempsey CCC-A, FAAA, audiologist, has been in private practice for five years. The last 3 years her office has been located at the Family Medical Center in Wilmington on Rt. 62.

Refer to the ad below for a new upcoming educational seminar on April 9, 2002. Call to register, as space is limited!

Ms. Dempsey is offering one of her bimonthly educational seminars with guest speakers on April 9, 2002. She regularly offers educational seminars to the public, as hearing aid and assistive listening technology rapidly changes due to changes in electronics and miniaturization. New hearing aid circuits and designs are on the market every 6-8 weeks. Sorting through the technology to help someone with a hearing loss can be more confusing and complicated. The benefit is that we can now help 95-99% of all hearing losses.

Ms. Dempsey states that there is a lot of confusion about what an audiologist is and Matthew Robert Segalla on January 24, 2002 at Hallmark Health/ Melrose-Wakefield Campus.

Grandparent honors are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beairsto and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Segalla, all of Reading.

ANTHONY AND STEPHANIE PACILLO of North Andover announce the birth of their daughter Arianna Kathleen on March 1, 2002 at the North Shore Medical Center.

Grandparent honors are extended to Anthony Pacillo Jr. of Reading, Emily Pacillo of Saugus and Joseph and Faith DeAngelis of Lynnfield

FREDERICK AND DEBBIE GUTHRIE of Reading announce the birth of their son John Andrew Guthrie on January 3, 2002 at the Hallmark Health/Melrose-Wakefield Campus. He joins older brother Frederick Guthrie Jr., 20 months old.

Grandparent honors are extended to Jan and Edmee Wey of Brandon Florida, and Andrew and Catherine Guthrie of Winchester.

Hearing loss seminar

Deborah Dempsey

what type of services one can expect from an audiologist. An audiologist is distinguished from a "Hearing Aid Dealer" or "Hearing Aid Specialist" by the 6-8 years of education at the college and doctorate level. Many Audiology programs are run in conjunction with medical schools.

A hearing aid specialist or dealer may take a short course and obtain a state license to operate as a hearing aid specialist. They do not have the theoretical background in hearing science and knowledge of the workings of the hearing system.

Ms. Dempsey is an audiologist and a healthcare provider who diagnoses or determines if a hearing loss is present. If there is any indication of a need for medical treatment, the client is referred to an Ear Nose and Throat Specialist (ENT). However, most hearing loss is "sensorineural" or " loss" and can only be treated with one of the many sophisticated hearing aid products that are now available.

Ms. Dempsey spent 8 years studying hearing science and hearing aid dispensing in educational programs and is currently enrolled in her 2nd doctoral program during the evening to obtain her doctorate in Clinical Audiology. Ms. Dempsey has been an audiologist for 23 years working in various Harvard Teaching hospital clinics, and just prior to opening her own practice 51 years ago, was director of Audiology at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Care Center for 15 years.

For the past 10 years she also consulted to hospitals setting up new Audiology programs and newly mandated hearing screening programs for newborns prior to their discharge from the hospital. She also consults to hearing aid manufacturers and manufacturers of diagnostic equipment to help better identify type and degree of hearing loss to provide excellent quality hearing aids.

Ms. Dempsey herself has a hearing loss of 14 years. She wears and tests new hearing aids that come out on the market before endorsing them in her practice.

She can be reached at 978-988-1999 or by email at <ddempsey@aol.com> if you have any questions.

PICTURED HERE (LEFT TO RIGHT) at a recent rehearsal of "Christ's Passion 2002" are Cast members Catie McElroy, Danielle Millette, Gador Abkarian, Heidi Howland, Robert Harrison, and Arthur Zervas. Christ's Passion 2002, the story of Jesus' last days on earth, will be presented free to the public at the First Parish Congregational Church of Wakefield, 1 Church Street, the stone church on Lake Quannapowitt, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, March 28, and Good Friday, March 29.

This is the 11th year that the First Parish Congregational Church of Wakefield has provided for the community a production that tells of the dramatic, exciting and tragic events of Jesus' last days on earth. Christ's Passion 2002 will be presented at 8 p.m. in the church sanctuary on Thursday, March 28, and on Good Friday, March 29.

Christ's Passion 2002 cast of fifty actors and Director Pam Wiesnabach, who brings an abundance of theatrical experience to this production, have a new contemporary script to work with this year. Although the script is new, the story does not stray from the events as told in the Bible. New dramatic, moving music will enhance the production during which scenes from the Bible will come alive.

This informative dramatization of Biblical events will have a powerful impact on those who know Jesus' story well and on those too who have never heard it before. For those who wish to receive it, First Parish's Outreach Committee will distribute a free "Jesus" video to each individual/family who attend a performance. This video tells the story of the man born in an obscure village who upset religious tradition with a new perspective on knowing God.

All welcome to attend these free performances at First Parish, 1 Church St., Wakefield, the stone church on Lake Quannapowitt. For more information, you may call the church office at 781-245-1539.

Boston Pops to appear in Lowell Thursday April 4

The Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra, with Keith Lockhart Conducting, return to the Lowell Memorial Auditorium on Thursday, April 4, 2002 at 8:00 p.m.

It's a star-spangled season! Join Keith Lockhart and the Boston Pops as they celebrate America and the music of our lives. This spring, Pops performances will feature selections from Rodgers' musical gems like The King and I, OklaHoma!, Carousel, and South Pacific, including a first-ever Pops "Richard Rodgers Sing-Along Night."

The Boston Pops has performed throughout the United States and Canada, and also has appeared in Japan and Korea. The Boston Pops recently performed selection of American classics at Super Bowl XXXVI's pregame show on Sunday, Feb. 3, at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. Conductor Keith Lockhart also conducted the Salt Lake City Symphony Orchestra at the opening ceremonies of the 2002 Winter Olympics.

The Committee For Community Hospitals is an organizational working in conjunction with Saints Memorial Medical Center and Lowell General Hospital to support local community hospitals in Lowell. All proceeds from The Boston Pops performance will benefit Saints hospitals in Lowell. All proceeds from The Boston Pops performance will benefit Saints Memorial Medical Center and Lowell General Hospital.

Tickets are on sale now and are available at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium box office, or through Ticketmaster outlets, charge-by-phone at (617/508) 931-2000 or at www.ticketmaster.com.

Goal setting and over-achievement

by Phyllis Nissen

Principal concerns in Tewksbury

"The School Department's budget for Fiscal Year 2002 will be a tight one, enough so that trying to finance basic needs for improvements at all schools will be a challenge in the upcoming related discussions between now and when the matter is finalized in May. At the School Committee, Trahan School Principal George Paul and North Street School Principal Ralph Natola outlined their general improvement proposals for the year 2002 challenge.

"It will be a challenging year," said School Committee member Ed Dick.

"According to School Committee Chairman Scott Consaul, the proposed 2002 budget is the leanest one that he has seen in seven years.

"Here is a summary of what both principals presented the School Committee.

"Louise Davy Trahan School. Principal George Paul and Jack Sheehy, the Co-Chairman of the Trahan School Improvement Council, presented their condensed improvement plan for the Trahan School.

"Our focus is on an action plan to maintain the initiatives of the School Department's Strategic Five-Year Plan," said Principal Paul.

"The action plan allows staff development and teacher re-certification, focuses on improving student achievement and Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment (MCAS) test scores.

"To accomplish these goals, Paul and Sheehy plan to tailor programs to meet individual student needs. They hope to continue to provide an elementary writing program and to refine a literacy-based reading program that addresses multiple levels of learning. Finally, Paul and the council intend to continue early intervention, Kindergarten and summer school programs....

Teachable moments in North Reading

"It was my first day of freshman seminar class," notes Chris Ramsdell in "The Deliberator," appearing in the "North Reading Transcript."

"While the teacher, Leo Richard, took attendance, I wondered, 'What will this class be about?' I soon found out that much of the class involved valuable life skills and keys to success in the business world taught by a North Reading High School teacher with years of experience.

"Leo Richard spent most of his childhood growing up in Salem, Mass., although he lived two years in Newfoundland as a 'service brat' since his father was in the military. 'We lived in a remote area without heating or plumbing. It was a tough life for a five-year-old.'

"Years later, back in the States, he attended Salem High School where he participated in extra-curricular activities: football, track, and intramural basketball. During his senior year, he was a member of the drama club. As a 1966 graduate, Mr. Richard then went on to college.

"In his hometown, Salem State College was a likely choice for Mr. Richard. He majored in business and in education, and minored in history. During college he was a member of the Kappa Delta Phi fraternity. According to Mr. Richard, when he graduated in 1970,

Strategic plans in Lynnfield

"The School Committee is seeking volunteers to serve on a Steering Committee for the creation of a Strategic Plan," notes the Lynnfield "Summer Street School News."

"The Steering Committee will be charged with proposing goals for the Lynnfield Public Schools based on information gathered at various focus groups that were held during the fall.

"The creation of a Strategic Plan is a focus area for the School Committee this year. A Strategic Plan will help guide the School Committee's efforts over the next five years as we continue to strive for educational excellence. The document will set specific goals for our schools and will help determine how we allocate our resources, both financial and otherwise, in the future. Once the document that is created by the Steering Committee is approved by the School Committee, the School Department will be charged

Movie Reviews

"Resident Evil" mediocre

by Paul Feely

MOVIE: "RESIDENT EVIL"
GRADE: *

Review: It's hard to imagine what audience the producers of this film were aiming for.

Horror fans will be disappointed by the lack of real suspense and believable gore. Science fiction fans will be disappointed by the plot holes that are about the size of the Grand Canyon. And fans of the video game series this movie is based on will be disappointed by the fact that none of the familiar characters appear on screen.

The end result is a mediocre film about a company whose genetic tamper-ings create a formula that reanimate corpses who have a lust for life, or more specifically life blood. The zombies look good, and the zombie dogs are somewhat scary, but the rest of the film is fairly paint-by-numbers.

SHORTTAKES

MOVIE: "40 DAYS AND 40 NIGHTS"
GRADE: **

Review: Josh Hartnett stars as a young man who makes a bet with his friends that he can abstain from having sex during the Catholic period of Lent, or the time frame of 40 days and 40 nights.

No one around him next step in the process is to create goals for the district on the information gathered.

"The Steering Committee, the group that will formulate these goals, will be composed of parents and community members as well as members of the faculty and administration. One School Council parent and one parent-at-large from each school is being sought to serve on the Steering Committee. The committee will meet approximately four times over a six to eight week period...."

believes he can do it, and an office pool soon starts up, as people pick dates when they feel he will fall from grace. A parade of young women also start getting in on the act, each one of them looking to be the one that he finally decides he can't resist.

This comedy definitely has its moments, and the producers aren't trying to make it into anything other than another teen comedy in the tradition of 'American Pie'. If you're looking for a good time at the movies, and not necessarily a story that rings true to you, then this is the film you've been looking for.

MOVIE: "QUEEN OF THE DAMNED"
GRADE: **

Review: The last time we saw the vampire Lestat, the main character in author Anne Rice's "Vampire Chronicles" series, on the big screen he was portrayed by Tom Cruise in 'Interview with the Vampire'.

This time around he is embodied by Stuart Townsend, who does a poor job of carrying on the tradition as the blood-sucking, rock-and-roll singing vampire. In this story, which bears the title of one of Rice's novels but actually combines the plots from two of them, Lestat takes his rock act on the road, spreading the message of the underworld until he unlocks the spirit of Akasha, the vampire queen for whom the film is named. Akasha is played by the late pop star Aaliyah. There is a certain eeriness to watching a dead person play a vampire on screen, and she makes the most of her screen time and what little plot direction she was given by the script.

The story the film is based on is a satirical look at the rock music industry, and the film starts to head in that direction, before veering down a path towards a gory love story. The confusion takes away from what could have been an interesting look at society, and how tolerant it has become toward the idea of vampires.

MOVIE: "COLLATERAL DAMAGE"
GRADE: **

Review: Arnold Schwarzenegger returns to the type of action role that made him a star in the 1980s in this film which saw its release delayed following the September 11 terrorist attacks.

Producers should have taken advantage of the extra time that the film was on the shelf to rework some of the plot problems in the film, which is basically a paint-by-numbers revenge film.

Schwarzenegger plays a man who unknowingly catches a glimpse of a most-wanted terrorist known as 'The Wolf', who by coincidence ends up killing Schwarzenegger's wife and child in an explosion. Despite the warnings by the government and those around him, he decides to set off on his own to hunt down and kill the man responsible.

The drug trade once again figures prominently in this film, and one wonders how Schwarzenegger is able to track down and find 'The Wolf' when law enforcement agencies have been unable to complete the task for years. The stunts are average, and the actors are just extras to the main focus points of the film - the explosions and gun shots.

MOVIE: "I AM SAM"
GRADE: ***

Review: "I Am Sam" is a

it's DIFFERENT By How?

MAYBE WE CAN BORROW THE HOOK-AND-LADDER TRUCK.

There are seven differences in the second picture. Can you spot them?

touching story that will unabashedly tug at your heart strings and push all the right emotional buttons to spread its special message - that when it comes to raising kids, all you need is love. Sean Penn turns in a stunning performance as a mentally-challenged man, Sam, who has the intellectual capacity of a seven-year-old. A fling with a homeless woman results in the birth of a daughter, whom he names Lucy Diamond in honor of his beloved Beatles. The mother skips out as soon as the child is born, and Sam takes it upon himself to raise her.

Problems arise when Lucy begins to reach, and then surpass, Sam's intellectual capabilities. When he is wrongly arrested for soliciting a prostitute, the state steps in and tries to take her away from him. Sam enlists the help of high-priced lawyer Michelle Pfeiffer, who accepts the case pro-bono, and along the way they teach us, and each other, about what's really important when it comes to family life, and what makes a good parent.

Penn should earn an Oscar for his performance, and Pfeiffer gets more out of her role than other actresses may have.

MOVIE: "SLACKERS"
GRADE: *

Review: 'Slackers' isn't just the title of this film, it's also a pretty good description of everyone involved in the production.

This paint-by-the-numbers teen comedy has some laughs, which are too few and far between to keep anyone's interest.

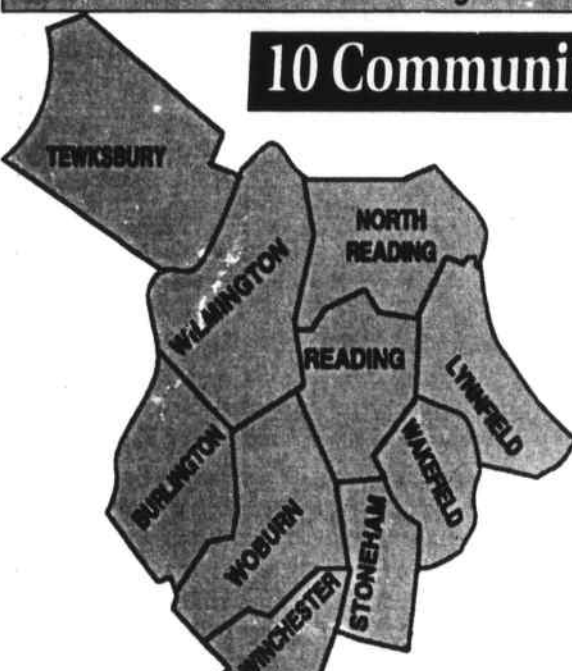

A revved-up ad campaign featuring the funnier moments of the film may lure in some filmgoers, but don't be fooled - this one is worth a rental, at best.

rations on the next exhibit, which will feature five historical houses from Boston. She notes that the Gallery will afford four of the houses - the Harrison Gray Otis, Nichols, Prescott, and Gibson houses - some exposure in a site along the Freedom Trail. The fifth house is the Paul Revere House.

She is also looking for more exhibits to book into the Adams Gallery in the future. Because of all the material that Moakley, a graduate of Suffolk University Law School and a former member of its Board of Trustees, left to the school, more exhibits on his life will also take place in the Gallery.

The Adams Gallery is located in the Suffolk Law School's David J. Sargent Hall, 120 Tremont Street, Boston. For more information or directions call (617) 573-8508.

their FATHERS AND MOTHERS did them, they spend endless hours and days finding an easier way to do it. We owe a debt of gratitude to those who did away with the WASHBOARD and invented the WASHING MACHINE. The man who did away with cranking a car by inventing the "self-started", and the "refrigerator" did away with the ever leaking "ice box." I keep saying to Kathy, "I'll do it when I get a "ROUND TO IT." Well she was ready for me yesterday when I said that -- for she presented me with a round disk that had printed on it "TU-IT."

Sign on the city hall bulletin board "TOWN MEETING TONIGHT. Please, due to the large number of items on the agenda it is respectfully requested that anyone wishing to INSULT a SELECTMAN please limit yourself to five MINUTES or five INSULTS. A supermarket clerk told Kathy "No, ma'am, we haven't had any in a long time." "WHOA!" said the store manager who had just come along. "I'm sure we have some lady. This is a NEW CLERK and he doesn't know that we have plenty in the warehouse and we'll get some over this afternoon. Now, what was it?" he said we haven't had in a long time?" Kathy smiled and said "RAIN."

A flashlight is a handy gadget to carry DEAD BATTERIES. My Uncle Henry told the judge that because he fell off the staging and hurt his ARM, he couldn't WORK as a carpenter because he couldn't raise his right arm about his shoulder. The judge said "You are entitled to disability compensation if you can't work because of your injury -- but HOW HIGH could you raise your right arm 'BEFORE' this unfortunate accident?" Uncle Tom jumped off the witness chair and RAISED BOTH ARMS 'over' his head. Honesty was not one of Uncle Tom's VIRTUES.

Will Rogers said "People learn through reading or association with SMARTER PEOPLE." Aunt Nora said

"reading WOODCHIPS isn't one of them!"

Michael D'Agostino wears two PAIRS OF PANTS when he goes golfing in case he gets a HOLE IN ONE. I remember when I gave my high school girl friend a ring. She asked "Chipper, are you sure this is a real diamond ring?" "Well" I exclaimed, "if it isn't, I'm OUT A BUCK AND HALF."

I asked a farmer "how can you tell a GOOSE from a GANDER?" "I can't" the farmer replied and I don't care as long as "They" FIND OUT for THEMSELVES."

"10 Faces of Winchester Hospital"

Current photo of Kelsey at her 6th birthday party

Our daughter, Kelsey, spent the first month of her life at the Winchester Hospital Special Care Nursery. During that time, we were told many times by the nursery staff what a miracle Kelsey was, having been born at a mere two pounds and yet having thrived so well while in their care that she was able to join her family at home by the time she reached a month old. What the staff failed to realize, however, was how instrumental they were in working our little miracle. The caring, highly skilled and devoted special care nursery staff at Winchester Hospital is second to none and we will forever be in their debt for having delivered to us the most precious gift of our little girl.

Exquisite new colonial

Ready for immediate occupancy is this exquisite nine room, four bedroom, two and a half bath colonial set on a 2.84 acre tree studded private lot handy to routes 1/128-95. The ultimate in curb appeal shows immediately with complete brick front, Pella windows, architectural roof shingles and set back over 120 feet.

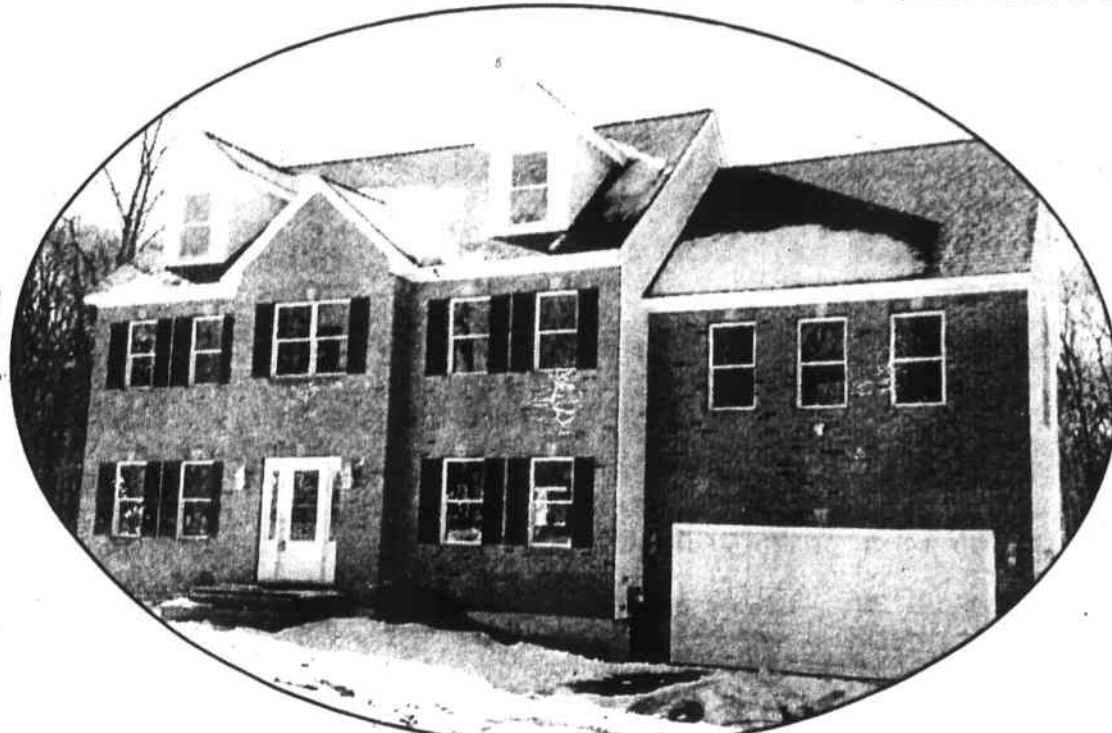

The traditional foyer with granite floors adds both warmth and charm to this spectacular colonial and ones immediate attraction to the dramatic dining room. The dining room offers, hardwood floors, crown molding, chair rail and wainscoting. Also added in this dining area is a decorative detailed medallion with an elegant chandelier attached. Off the foyer as well is an inviting living room with hard wood floors.

Light birch cabinets, granite counter tops, hardwood floors stainless appliances and center island makes this kitchen a showplace. Another added attraction is the bay window viewing the spectacular tree lined lot. Leading from the kitchen is a 6 foot Pella slider to a 26x12 mahogany deck overlooking the beautifully grounds, perfect for spring and summer entertaining. For ideal purposes the laundry/1/2 bath is located off kitchen with granite sink top and birch cabinet.

Beautiful wooded views can be enjoyed throughout this home especially from the SET ON 2.84 TREE STUDDED PRIVATE ACRES this is a great house for a family. It has 4 bedrooms, 2 and a half baths and is ready to move into.

Showplace kitchen has birch cabinets, granite counter tops extravagant round top window in the oversized grate room. The wood burning fireplace with granite mantel and hearth adds a romantic feel while the burber carpeting was added for a more practical lifestyle.

The second floor offers hardwood floors in the hallway and staircase leading up. All bedrooms are carpeted in neutral tones. The master suite consists of walk in closet extravagant whirlpool tub, stand up shower granite sink top and ceramic tile floor in the master bath. The office/study is located off the second floor hallway as is the third floor walk-up, which leads to the media/bonus room. This completely finished area with burber carpeting is 35x20 in size and is ideal for an exercise area, entertainment room, au pair suit or perhaps any idea you may have. Window seats and surround sound were added for a more personal touch.

Can't run water and shower at same time?

Wouldn't it be nice if there were a tub/shower valve that neutralized sudden changes in water temperature and fought the corrosive effects of water?

in temperature occur when there is a simultaneous demand on the water system. If someone is using the shower an interruption of the cold water

Well there is...Gerber Plumbing Fixtures Corp. meets the challenge with Gerber Hardware single-handle pressure balance valves for bathtub and shower configurations. They're part of a complete line of Gerber Hardware faucets and tub/shower valves for the kitchen and bathroom.

The Gerber Hardware single handle tub/shower valve maintains water temperature by balancing hot and cold surges regardless of changes in line pressure. Abrupt changes through the use of a toilet or washing machine could cause a severe burn to the occupant.

The "temperature balancing piston" maintains water temperature within 1°-3°, even when there's a sudden drop of water pressure. Nationwide, each year, about 37,000 children are treated for burns caused by scalding water. Two other groups vulnerable to this type of accident are people with disabilities, as well as the growing elderly population.

The pressure balance tub/shower valve is supplied with a "temperature limit stop" and can be preset to a maximum water temperature to save energy and reduce the chance of scalding.

Meeting the American with Disabilities Act requirements, Gerber Hardware products for the kitchen, bathroom, tub and shower are available with easy-to-use "loop" or elliptical-shaped handles, which facilitate safe operation and enhance appearance.

Integral to the Gerber Hardware tub/shower valve is the Ceramaflo ceramic disc cartridge, which protects against the damaging, corrosive effects of water. The valve's cartridge regulates the water flow. To stop leaks and drips throughout the years of continuous use, the cartridge's components resist wear and deterioration caused by the corrosive properties of water.

The ceramic discs in Gerber's Ceramaflo cartridge are harder and more durable than the stainless steel or plastic components commonly used in valve and faucet cartridges by several other manufacturers.

Referring to the Ridgeway's Extension of Moh's Hardness Scale, the diamond has a hardness of 15 while ceramic rates a 12. Steel has a hardness of about 6 and plastic is even less at about 3 or 4. The Gerber ceramic disc cartridge's near-diamond hardness resists wear from friction and prevents damage from water. It delivers years of reliable operation and precise flow and control. Backed with a lifetime warranty against leaks and drips, all of the Gerber Hardware faucets and valves use the same ceramic disc cartridges. If replacement is ever needed, it's quick and easy.

Gerber is rare in that it markets ceramic disc cartridges throughout a full line of single-handle and two-handle faucets for kitchens and bathroom lavatories plus valves for tub and shower applications. You can choose from a variety of finishes, which include chrome, polished brass, white and biscuit.

For more information, write to: Gerber Plumbing Fixtures Corp., 4600 West Touhy Ave., Lincolnwood, IL 60712 or visit www.gerberonline.com.

MEDICAL

A GREAT COMMUNITY

MAKES FOR GREATER OPPORTUNITY

At Winchester Hospital, your opportunity to achieve greater success comes from the very community in which you live. Locally, we're known as a leading provider of comprehensive healthcare services in the northwest suburban Boston area. Yet, because of our continuous commitment to making our patient care a top priority as well as the extensive development and advancement opportunities we provide in the careers we offer, we were recently designated as one of the top ranked hospitals nationally for inpatient satisfaction by Press, Ganey Associates, Inc. This is what a dedicated community such as ours accomplishes. Discover all that you will - at Winchester Hospital.

NURSING OPPORTUNITIES

Nursing Supervisor

Part-time night positions, along with casual part-time hours every other weekend. Act as a resource to nursing staff along with our 24/7 staffing office. Previous supervisory experience and strong critical care skills preferred.

FLOAT POOL

Full or part-time, permanent day, evening or night shifts; 8-hour, 12-hour or partial shifts. Competitive salary plus floating differential. Expand your skills and experience as you float between our 5 Medical/Surgical units after a comprehensive orientation of each area.

Rediscover your passion for nursing while delivering the kind of care your patients deserve. We also have full and part-time openings on various units.

Your professional satisfaction begins with a collaborative environment complemented by a highly competitive compensation and benefits package. Candidates are encouraged to forward their resumes: Winchester Hospital, Human Resources, 41 Highland Avenue, Winchester, MA 01890; Fax: 781-756-2908; E-mail: careers@winhosp.org; or call 24-Hour Jobline at 781-306-1009. Diversity makes for a greater community: an equal opportunity employer.
